

Aircraft Carrier Open to Public on Three Days During Visit Here

Pilot's-eye view of the big aircraft carrier HMCS Magnificent, largest ship in Canada's navy, was provided this morning from ship's own helicopter as "Maggie" berthed at HMC Dockyard, Esquimalt Harbor. Victorians will get a more intimate view when the ship is opened for public inspection on three days during her stay here.

From 2 to 5 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 30; Sunday, Oct. 31; and Sunday, Nov. 7. No passes will be needed to enter dockyard, but cameras will not be permitted. Magnificent will be in harbor here until Wednesday, Nov. 1, when she will go to Vancouver, returning here Nov. 6. On Nov. 9, she will sail for home port, Halifax.

TRADITIONAL NAVAL CEREMONY was observed this morning when the 18,000-ton aircraft carrier HMCS Magnificent steamed past Duntze head, entering Esquimalt harbor on her first visit to the West Coast. She is the first carrier to dock here since HMCS Warrior, her sister ship, was stationed on this coast during the winter of 1946-47. As the big ship passed on her way to her berth, she fired a 13-gun salute to the Pacific Coast flag, while Rear Admiral J. C. Hibbard, FOPC, (foreground) stood at salute. Ship's band and an honor guard of airmen were on the flight deck, while the rest of the ship's company were at entering harbor stations. (Times Photos by Halkett and Strickland).

Live Burial, Eye Gouging New Mau Mau Crimes

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—Ruthless Mau Mau terrorists are believed to have buried alive as a sacrifice a 72-year-old white farmer they kidnapped 12 days ago, authorities said today.

A Kenya government spokesman said Arundel Gray Leakey probably was not tortured before he was smothered in the gruesome ceremony on the upper slopes of Mount Kenya.

Leakey was taken prisoner by a group of terrorists after they broke into his farmhouse while he and his wife, Mary, 57, and daughter were at dinner. The Mau Mau strangled Mrs.

Leakey and hacked to death a negro house boy. The daughter managed to escape.

For days a 2,000-man force combed the woods around the Leakey home for signs of the terrorists.

Leakey had lived in Kenya for 50 years, and spoke the native dialect fluently. He never regarded the Mau Mau threat as serious and scorned carrying guns or having guards.

Meanwhile, Mau Mau leader "Field Marshal" Kaleb in a one-minute hearing was charged with carrying a .45 pistol and having 13 rounds of ammunition in his possession—both of which carry the death penalty. He was captured in a cave Sunday after police had been tipped off to his whereabouts by an informer. He took over "command" of all terrorist forces in Mount Kenya after the capture of leader "General China" last January.

C-47 Down In Alps; 21 Missing

NICE, France (UP)—An American C-47 with 21 American airmen aboard was lost on a flight from Italy to Britain today, and searchers concentrated on the snow-covered Alps after an earlier clue proved false.

Search planes also swept low over the Mediterranean, but the main effort was concentrated on the French Alps, whose 10,000-foot peaks have been called the "air force graveyard".

A search plane spotted the wreckage of a two-engine aircraft on the rock-ribbed island of Elba, but rescue officials said they believed it was the remains of an old crash.

The missing plane was being flown by a crew of officers logging flying time when it disappeared. Peasants reported two explosions during the night in the French Alps north of Nice.

With the three other terrorists captured with Kaleb were found clothes thought to belong to Leakey as well as silver and paper from the Leakey home.

A naked African with both eyes gouged out by Mau Mau terrorists was found wandering Sunday on a European farm at Ruiru, seven miles northeast of Nairobi, police said today.

The man said he was a home guard from the Fort Hall district, and had been abducted from the African location of Nairobi.

OWN BULLET KILLS ARMED ATTACKER

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—Police reported a 28-year-old man was killed Sunday by a bullet he had fired into the back of another man.

Officers said it happened this way: Charles Curry, the victim, and Warren E. Jones, 25, got into an argument at a club. Jones was handed a toy pistol and Curry grabbed a .38-calibre automatic pistol from the pocket of another man.

Curry, standing in front of Jones with his arms around him, shot Jones in the back during a scuffle. The bullet went through Jones' body and struck Curry, who was pronounced dead at St. Mary's Hospital. Jones was in serious condition with a gunshot wound in his chest.

SUSPECTED OF MURDER

Wanted B.C. Man Found Dead in Bush

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—A grim manhunt for a man sought on suspicion of murder ended on a mountainside here during the week-end with the death of the wanted man as police closed in.

RCMP reported Sunday night that the body of the wanted man, Anton Koncz, was found Saturday above the 1,000-foot level of a nearby mountain. Police said a rifle was found beside the body and that Koncz had apparently committed suicide.

FOUND AFTER FIRE

Sgt. B. E. Munkiey, head of the Trail detachment, RCMP, said the hunt for Koncz started Friday night after a warrant had been sworn out charging him with suspicion of murder in the death of Alex Toth, prominent Trail district farmer, whose charred body was found Tuesday in the ashes of his home.

Police said Toth was first believed to have died accidentally but that they became suspicious of foul play after Koncz threatened Toth, 19-year-old son of the dead man Friday night.

Police said the youth told them Koncz pointed a rifle at him Friday night, threatening to kill him.

Police from the interior Kootenay detachments at Trail, Nelson and Fruitvale, joined in the search. The hunted man's trail was picked up on the mountainside Saturday.

Police said Koncz fired on them as they closed in and a plane from Nelson was called to aid in spotting the wanted man's position. A short time later police found the man's body.

Poles Free American; Admit Was Framed

WARSAW, Poland (UP)—Communist Poland announced today that American architect Hermann Field was "quite groundlessly" framed by a Red security agent five years ago and has been released from a Polish prison.

Until today no Communist country has admitted knowing anything about four members of the Field family who disappeared one by one behind the Iron Curtain.

The Polish announcement said Hermann Field had been framed on false charges by Josef Swiatlo, a Polish security agent who recently asked for political asylum in the west and now is in the United States.

The Polish announcement said Swiatlo framed Field because Swiatlo was actually "an American agent provocateur," working on behalf of the United States.

No hint was given of the charges on which Field had been "framed."

Biggest RCN Ship Welcomed

By MONTE ROBERTS

A single ship, with "eyes" and striking power equivalent to more than 20 destroyers, steamed into Esquimalt Harbor this morning.

She is the Royal Canadian Navy's largest ship, the 18,000-ton, 694-foot aircraft carrier HMCS Magnificent, on her first visit to Victoria.

In the opinion of high navy officials, each aircraft aboard a carrier is of roughly the same value as a destroyer in protecting convoyed merchant shipping.

Magnificent carries two air squadrons: VS 881, consisting of 16 Canadian-adapted Avenger type anti-submarine aircraft, and VS 871, 10 Sea Fury fighter aircraft.

OBSELETE?

As Magnificent berthed at HMC Dockyard, her commanding officer, Commodore Herbert S. Rayner, DSC and Bar, CD, was asked: Is this carrier close to obsolescence, and are carriers in general to become obsolete because of long-range land-based aircraft?

His reply was brief. "To both questions," he said, "the answer is negative."

Certainly there is nothing obsolescent to meet the eye when you board the highly complex, tautly-run fighting machine known to her smooth-working crew as "Maggie."

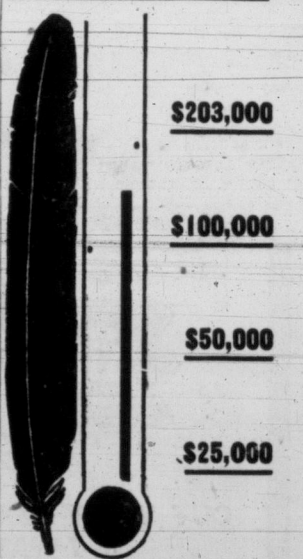

MATCHSTICK

When you stand on Magnificent's flight deck, more than two city blocks long and over 100 feet wide, you find it hard to realize you are afloat, and not standing on an airport landing strip.

When she reaches Halifax at the end of the current cruise, she will have steamed close to 180,000 miles since commissioning, most of them in foreign waters.

Officers, in addition to Commodore Rayner, include: executive officer, Cmdr. John C. O'Brien, Ottawa and Halifax; commander (AIR), Cmdr. Victor J. Wilgrie, Ottawa and Halifax; commanding officer, VS 881, Lieut. Cmdr. R. W. J. Cocks, formerly of Victoria; commanding officer, VS 871, Lieut. Cmdr. J. W. Logan, Stanley, N.S.

Magnificent carries a complement of 1,100 officers and men.

Head-On Rail Crash Kills 1, Injures 50

Montreal to New York Passenger Train Collides With Freight Near Ticonderoga

TICONDEROGA, N.Y. (UP) — Rail officials said today clear visibility that enabled the engineers to reduce speed prevented a heavy death toll in Sunday's head-on smash of a 113-car freight and a crack Montreal-to-New York passenger train.

One person died and 50 were injured — six seriously — when the freight plowed into the fast southbound passenger train Laurentian on a single stretch of track running along Lake Champlain.

A trainman said a faulty switch may have been responsible for the two trains being on the single track.

The Laurentian, operated by the Delaware & Hudson Railroad and with 125 passengers aboard, was slowing for a scheduled stop at Ticonderoga when the collision occurred. The day was sunny and clear and engineers of the two trains spotted each other on the single-track line in time to apply emergency brakes.

The Laurentian was going about 10 miles an hour and the freight had slowed to about 35 miles an hour when they crashed. The two diesel engines pulling the freight caromed off the track, rolled down a 12-foot embankment and overturned in a shallow swamp.

Dictatorial Power Granted Premier

By ZAMIR SIDDIQI

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Prime Minister Mohammed Ali today headed a new and more powerful government while a "state of emergency" was maintained to cope with Pakistan's disturbed political situation.

The prime minister named a seven-man cabinet Sunday night after Governor-General Ghulam Mohammed dismissed all his previous ministers and dissolved the Constituent Assembly. This body had served as a national legislature during the seven years since Pakistan became a dominion following the partition of India.

Declaring a state of emergency, the governor-general turned full administrative power over to the cabinet. Demonstrations and meetings of more than five persons are prohibited, and censorship has been clamped on the local press.

CURTAINS VISIT

All, cutting short a visit to the United States and cancelling one to Canada, arrived in Karachi Saturday, just a few hours before the drastic measures were announced.

He told the people in a broadcast that he accepted the governor-general's mandate to form a "new government because" it was my duty, which in this hour of crisis I owed to my country.

All's own party dominated the assembly just dissolved, holding 58 of the 78 seats.

The opposition, including the United Front which won an overwhelming victory in provincial elections in East Pakistan last spring, had called for new elections, charging that the assembly no longer reflects the true political sentiment in the country.

Blown 163 Ft. In Explosion Of Army Ammo

SUSSEX, N.B. (CP) — A rifle bullet fired by a practising marksman blew up 900 pounds of army-stored explosives near here Sunday and the bone-jarring blast hurled debris half a mile.

Murray Buchanan, the 34-year-old rifleman and caretaker at the army's big Camp Sussex training base, was blown 163 feet from the splintered hut where the TNT had been stored. He was taken to hospital at Saint John, where his shattered left arm was amputated.

The explosion blew out scores of windows over a wide area and was heard in the streets of this dairying community 11 miles away.

The demolished hut was one of four spaced about 100 feet apart. Only one of these was vacant. A second was filled with detonators and a third contained an unspecified amount of military ammunition.

The explosion dug a hole five feet deep and five feet around.

Bell Jealous Of Jenner Court Told

Prosecution Case Nearly Complete

BELLEVEILLE, Ont. (BUP) — The murder trial of Mary Elizabeth Bell went into its 10th day with indications that the prosecution might finish questioning its scores of witnesses today or Tuesday.

Crown witnesses testified Saturday that Percy Bell had planned a surprise housewarming for the day he was poisoned by strychnine in his coo, and that he had been jealous of Roscoe (Rusty) Jenners, a barber who lived with him and his wife.

Friends said Bell had planned to hire an old-time fiddler and do the calling himself at a fellow-worker's new house Jan. 2. The jury also heard testimony that some of Bell's friends had stopped going to parties at his place because Mrs. Bell ran him down in their presence.

Spencer Lloyd said he and his wife had been visiting the couple one night when Mrs. Bell told her husband that Jenners had reached out while lying on a bed "and made a grab at her skirt."

Jenners had sworn earlier that he had never "made a pass" at his attractive 48-year-old landlady. "After supper she said that Percy was jealous of Rusty," Lloyd said. "Bell didn't want her to tell it at first but she went ahead just the same."

He added that Bell "was going to throw him (Jenners) out and she had to get between them."

Vancouver—National Social Credit Leader Solon Low Saturday charged the Liberal government with "buying votes with the people's own money in order to enjoy the spoils of office."

In a blistering speech marking the close of the annual convention of the B.C. Social Credit League, Low said the federal government is "interfering with the provinces," and "using grants to win votes on the recommendations of political heeled."

"Ottawa throws sand and monkey wrenches into the gears of provincial development when it doesn't stand to benefit directly from such development," he said.

"It is interfering with the provinces in the discharge of their responsibilities. Some provinces fear Liberal bureaucrats, and maybe they have good reason to fear," said Mr. Low.

'Fanatics' Not Wanted

"But they must be far removed from fanaticism," he warned. "And to me a fanatic is a fellow in a helluva hurry who is on the wrong road. The people in our government must be balanced, and motivated by faith and not fear."

Mr. Low said "our first interest after setting up a government would be to set up principles as a guide. The Liberal party long ago abandoned principles for political expediency, and their objective today is to keep in office and enjoy the spoils of office."

"Some measure of expediency is necessary," he said, "but it must be as in Alberta and B.C., where expediency has been cut to the irreducible minimum."

"When we form a government, we will adopt measures to keep production at a high level and successfully maintain equitable distribution of those goods and services."

"This will be done, not solely through monetary means," he said. "Monetary reform alone cannot do the job. Monetary reform can be easily over-stressed. It is important, but must be accompanied by taxation, trade and spending."

"Whatever we do in monetary reform will be to put cents back in the Canadian dollar and keep them there," said Mr. Low.

He said the 400,000 out-of-work persons last winter represented "a natural consequence of economic decay in the Liberals' fiscal policies."

"Imagine what it will be when the snow flies this year, when they will all come out to the banana belt of B.C., and your government will have to dig into your tax money to pay for them."

"I don't believe we will get into a first-class depression," said Mr. Low, "but there is no necessity for allowing any decline in the economic activity of our country."

He said "Social Credit told Ottawa how to stop decline in its tracks . . . by putting purchasing power in the hands of the consumers."

Here is how Social Credit would stop decline, and "the Liberals have provided everything that is required."

First, make the Bank of Canada a bank of issue, able to advance certain sums of interest-free money to Ottawa. Put it into the hands of consumers immediately, by declaring bonuses to old age pensions, mothers allowance, and veterans' pension recipients, and family allowance cheques.

"This would immediately put purchasing power into the hands of those who need it most," he said, and "provide the market for our goods we are crying for today."

The money so distributed would work its way back to the government and the banks, and would increase the bank's and the nation's cash reserves.

Mr. Low said "pulling out old public works programs is too slow, and the results are unpredictable."

He said a national Social Credit government would not make "backdoor, under-the-table" deals with individual provinces, but would sit down with all provinces and work out a formula.

He said the Liberal's method of making grants to universities is interference with provincial responsibilities, and the grants are "made on the recommendations of political heeled."

Mr. Low promised "a new deal for the farmers and primary producers, because when the farmers are prosperous, the Pioneers on the Atlantic islands of Bermuda were delighted to find enormous flocks of the plump, edible caw, a member of the petrel family. These "silly wild birds," as the hunters called them, "would fall down . . . offering themselves to be caught faster than they could be killed." Large numbers were destroyed, and for a time the bird was believed to be extinct. The caw, however, has become wiser. Survivors now avoid man.

PLAYING LADS TOUCH TRUCK BRAKES, DROWN

CHETICAMP, N.S. (BUP)—Two Cape Breton boys drowned Sunday when they were trapped in the cab of a truck which rolled into Cheticamp harbor.

The victims were identified as Arthur Poirier, 7, and Gerald Poirier, 6, both of Cheticamp, but not related. The accident occurred when the youngsters climbed into the truck and apparently released the gears. The truck rolled down an incline and plunged into the harbor.

U.S. Election Race Enters Final Week

WASHINGTON (UP)—Republicans and Democrats trained their sights on the nation's undecided voters today as the 1954 election campaign rolled into its final climactic week.

The GOP national committee announced it has scheduled more than 250 speeches in 36 states in an all-out bid for votes between now and Nov. 2. The Democrats said their campaigning will be just as vigorous.

President Eisenhower, Vice-President Richard M. Nixon and most of the president's cabinet will be in action for the Republicans.

Mr. Eisenhower will deliver a nationwide "appeal to all Americans" Thursday night on behalf of the National Citizens for Eisenhower campaign committee. He also will make a "non-political" speech tonight at an industrial meeting here.

Adlai E. Stevenson, Senate leader Lyndon B. Johnson, former House speaker Sam Rayburn and a host of others will be in

Socreds Drop, Defeat 'Hot' Resolutions

By Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER—Delegates to the 1954 B.C. Social Credit convention Saturday waded through 120 resolutions without a sign of dissension or dissatisfaction in the provincial government.

Although the resolution list was packed with controversial issues, the hottest ones were dropped, tabled or defeated unanimously by the convention.

All resolutions criticizing the government of Premier W. A. C. Bennett, and its policies were left on the convention floor when the delegates walked out Saturday night for the closing banquet in Hotel Vancouver.

The nearest delegates came to a verbal battle on the resolutions was on the issue of fluoridation. After heated debate they passed a resolution putting them on record as being opposed to fluoridation of water by the cities or municipalities of B.C.

Delegates said they objected to being "guinea pigs" used to test "rank poison," and that fluoridation was a tendency to Socialism.

A resolution demanding appointment of a three-man liquor commission was defeated. Another asking the government to import better quality California wines was carried.

304 Anti-Reds Shot

TAIPEI, Formosa (UP)—Communist Chinese firing squads have executed 304 persons in Shanghai this month for "anti-revolutionary" (anti-Communist) activities, according to reports published here today.

Tatao news agency, official organ of the Nationalist ministry of interior, said the executions took place on Oct. 3 and Oct. 7 and were witnessed by Nationalist underground agents.

Car Crash Kills 5 Near Melita, Man.

MELITA, MAN (CP)—The death toll in a two-car collision Sunday three miles west of Melita climbed to five today with the death of a man flown to Regina by air ambulance.

Canadian Friar Recommended For Sainthood

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A Canadian-born Franciscan priest, who spent his childhood in the Essex area, may become a saint of the Roman Catholic Church, it was announced Sunday.

Most Rev. John C. Cody, Bishop of London, Ont., said here he has received a papal mandate approving an investigation of the life of Father Stephen Eckert, who founded a mission among American Negroes.

Father Eckert was born in St. Columban, Ont., near Chatham, and died in Milwaukee in 1923.

The rogatorial proceedings of the canonical process were opened by Bishop Cody at the request of Most Rev. Albert G. Meyer, Archbishop of Milwaukee.

The Saskatchewan air ambulance service flew the man to Regina following the head-on collision near this southwestern Manitoba town. His identity was being withheld pending notification of the next of kin.

The accident also took the lives of Raymond Munroe of Melita, Canadian customs inspector; Laverna Kilfoyle, a Melita telephone operator; Isabel Andries, 17, Melita, and Frances Yelich, Melita.

Three other persons were injured and were taken to hospital at Vainborough, Sask., and Deloraine, Man.

The crash occurred during light rain as Munroe's car, with Miss Kilfoyle as the only passenger, was heading into Melita.

British Common Sense

IT IS PRETTY DISTURBING, AS The London Economist remarks, to realize that nearly half the British Labor Party favors a neutralist foreign policy. True enough, the party's right wing, led by Mr. Attlee and Mr. Morrison, was able to win a vote in favor of German rearmament at the recent Scarborough convention, but it was a very narrow majority of 248,000, some 3,000,000 ballots being cast on the opposite side.

"The voting at Scarborough, following upon that at the Trades Union Congress at Brighton," says that Economist, "purports to show that half the Labor Party, which means nearly a quarter of the politically active people of this country, are in the neutralist camp. Indeed, a recent Gallup poll on this same issue of German rearmament suggested that the fraction should be more like a third."

What, in fact, are the British opponents of German rearmament saying? What is the real issue here? The Economist rightly replies that the real issue is this: "In the event of another war would you rather have the Germans on our side or on the other side?" Phrased thus, and phrased accurately, would the project of German rearmament be opposed by three million Labor Party votes?

Again, the Bevanite wing of the Labor Party is activated mainly by anti-Americanism, distrust of the United States almost as much as it distrusts Russia. What is the real issue here? The Economist thus phrases it: "In the event of another war, would you rather have the Americans in from the start, or only after another 1940?"

Unfortunately, in the case of German rearmament and anti-Americanism, the real issue is clouded in the mind of half the Labor Party and, apparently, about a third of the British people. If that be true of a nation as politically literate as Britain, need we be surprised by the confusion in the chaotic politics of France? Or, for that matter, by the recurring bewilderment of the American people?

"Where, in all this," asks The Economist, "is the famous common sense of the British people? Have we come to such a pass that one Englishman in every three is really taken in by palpable nonsense? If so, the blame cannot be laid wholly, or even mainly, at Mr. Attlee's door. The main reason is that the other side has been allowed to go very largely by default. Ever since Ernest Bevin's strength began to wane, no one in authority has taken the trouble to give the British public a consistent and intelligent lead, or to explain and expound the principles on which the policy of both governments has been based."

It is therefore not surprising that so many British people are attracted by the neutralist doctrine of Mr. Bevan when it is the only doctrine which is consistently, eloquently and skilfully presented. What is clearly needed, as The Economist says, is a deliberate, broadly-based and thoroughgoing campaign "to reconvert the British public to common sense."

It may be said that in Canada we have no such problem, at least so far as German rearmament and our commitment to it are concerned, because only a small C.C.F. minority is opposed to this policy. But is this agreement due solely to our superior common sense? Or is it more the result of our relative isolation from Europe and what The Manchester Guardian, in a notable phrase, once called Canada's "Olympian detachment"?

Saviour of the Commonwealth

MR. DAVIE FULTON, CONSERVATIVE M.P., for Kamloops, honored Victoria with a visit the other day. On thinking it over he probably will wish he had stayed home. For Mr. Fulton's speech here was not the sort of thing to attract votes to his harassed party or to increase public respect for him.

Probably he could not think of anything useful to say when the Conservatives of British Columbia are engaged in a public brawl among themselves. So he dredged up one of the oldest and most disreputable canards of Canadian politics.

The Liberal Party, he said, was "chipping away" at the ties binding Canada to Britain and the Commonwealth, and had gone "pretty far along the road of whether or not we should remain a British nation."

The Liberal Governments of the last thirty odd years have many mistakes to answer for. They need to make no apology for their attitude to Britain and the Commonwealth. This country is the best friend Britain has in the world and no one knows it better than the British people.

Mr. Fulton's charge is too absurd and contemptible to require any answer, but it indicates the Conservative Party's present bankruptcy of ideas and the real cause of its present impotence. It can be revived only if it argues practical issues and proposes practical policies. When it pretends, in British Columbia, to be the only reliable defender of the British connection and the Commonwealth (though it cannot even cure the disorder of its own affairs) it injures no one but itself.

Writing Off Viet Nam?

ACCORDING TO THE CANADIAN Press, it is the impression of informed quarters in Ottawa that "the communists are playing it straight in Viet Nam because they are confident they can take over the entire country in 1956." And, on the basis of the same report, they expect to assume control as the result of normal elections.

This opinion supports the views expressed by many observers who have covered the ground in South Viet Nam and come away discouraged by the lack of effectiveness in the western nations' approach to that country.

The consensus seems to be that western action bogs down under the old colonial indifference shown to the natives. Western thought, these observers and writers explain, is limited to a few isolated centres where a western culture has been imposed with questionable success on urban citizens. It does not fan out to reach the people of the country.

Energetic and active protagonists of the western ideology find it next to impossible to communicate with the people. Quite apart from the difficulty of creating in them some understanding of democratic ideals cherished by our part of the world, they find no avenues of approach to the man on the land and apparently little effort by the central administrations to create an approach.

In the meantime, communist workers move in from the Ho Chi Minh half of the nation, talk a language the natives understand and prepare the ground for communist victory at the polls.

Time is apparently running out for the western powers in the present non-communist section of Viet Nam. Elections come in 1956 and unless some radical change is made in the present approach and appeal to the voters, another area of southeast Asia will shortly be written off.

A war was fought and lost in an effort to hold back the oozing spread of communism in north Viet Nam. What it cost in lives and treasure was shown by France. Is it now too late to devote a smaller amount in financial aid through schemes analogous to the Four Point program and the Colombo Plan to hold Viet Nam peoples who are not yet communist? Or must they inevitably be absorbed into that regime because conditions continue as they are described by observers?

Important As the Bomb Stockpile

MR. ADLAI STEVENSON has expressed the opinion of a large number of Canadians in his remarks recently to a Democratic rally in Detroit.

On that occasion he pointed out that:

"Too many of us think of the threat of world Communism only as a military threat. It is much more than that. It also challenges us where we have felt most confident of the superiority of free institutions, namely in the economic sphere. This is a challenge which we must meet and which can be met only by a healthy economy here and by healthy economies among our friends and allies through expanding trade and investment.

"Because our success or failure depends on economic as much as military factors, our prosperity is as important to our security as our atomic stockpile; perhaps more so."

Mr. Stevenson is reminding us that we cannot remain husky and healthy, in shape to meet strong opposition from Communism, if the lifeblood of our economy is reduced or cut off by the strangulation of trade,

Big Game Hunter

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

I SEE one can now buy beds seven feet wide... seven feet square, in fact... in London. Just the thing for a tlay modern flatlet. Or for the harem. The price "complete" includes a foam rubber or spring-filled mattress. I bet it doesn't include suitable sheets and blankets. And where would you buy such sheets and blankets? If I went into a shop in Victoria and asked for a blanket about nine feet wide (to allow for tuck-in), the honest merchant would suggest a nice strait-jacket instead.

A COLD IN THE BELFRY ONE of the news agencies reported that some bats ran into the Empire State Building and killed themselves. The like of which was never heard before, since bats have built-in radar equipment and are not supposed to collide with anything. Well, I know something the reporter didn't know. (Fancy that.) If a bat has a cold in the head, his radar stops working. I didn't invent this theory myself, either. I read it in a book about the anatomy of animals, by a doctor. ("Under the Sun," by George and Martha Berry, eight shillings and sixpence, Hodder and Stoughton.) It is really for kids. But older kids, like science reporters and myself, could do with a copy.

SCOTS PHILOSOPHERS I OFTEN exchange letters with a Scotch pal concerning such subjects as immortality, the theory and practice of sourdough, how to reconcile God's goodness with such things as the Black Death or a Glasgow slum, the meaning of happiness, the use of kelp as human food, and so on. He has very fresh ideas on almost all subjects. In a recent letter he was very lively on the subject of death (that little-known institution, as Chesterton calls it), and I said to my wife "Say what you like about your Scots..."

"Whose Scots?" she said. "Well, your four grandparents were Scots," I said. "Say what you like about the Scots," I said.

"Thank you," she said. "I will." "Say what you like, but the Scots are really very interested in ideas," I said. "Och," she said, "they're just clutching at straws. After splitting them," she added.

I believe we philosophers split hairs more often than straws. But let us not split anything over a trifle like that. Let us rather regard with interest this almost unique example of an unapologetic Scot. Never saw the like.

RESEARCH WHILE discussing my wife, with my usual lack of courtesy and restraint, I had better tell you that I was writing a little essay on Women the other day. I was examining Chesterton's theory that there are only three things a woman can never understand, and these three things are Liberty, Equality and Fraternity. (He based this argument on the fact... if it is a fact... that a woman either likes to be a boss or to have a boss. She is an Authoritarian.) I roared with laughter while writing this essay, both at the bits I really meant and at the bits I didn't mean at all. It seemed a highly laughable little work.

BUT when I read it to my wife, she said it sounded bad-tempered, spiteful, boorish, and I don't know what. She also indicated that it was raw, half-baked, and overdone, though I never heard of any cookery that could be all these three things at once. Anyhow, I took her word for it and threw the offensive manuscript into an old box of discarded trifles. And I wrote a much mellowed version... though I confess I kept one or two of the original jokes. For instance, I retained my theory that it is more than a coincidence that when women got the vote, liberalism with a small L became a dead duck. (Yes, I know... men are bad, too, about voting too many laws. But women are even worse.)

WELL, it suddenly occurred to me that one day my grandchildren would be going through that box of discarded literary compositions. And when they came to my "bad-tempered" remarks on women... the remarks that made me laugh so innocently... they would wonder just what kind of nasty bully their Granny had been, to embitter their poor old Grandpappy like that. And they would draw a completely false picture of her, and this sort of bad guessing is called Research. If I were only a famous poet instead of an unknown hack, this kind of guessing would win a doctor's degree for one of those poor little idiots. And all the guessing would be dead wrong. Mostly because the kids wouldn't be able to hear me laughing as I wrote. And also because they never knew my very nice wife. And finally, because they never saw me sticking up for my liberty and equality.

MANDARINS LAST month or so, some pundit or mandarin wrote saying that a man should have to write examinations, etc., before being allowed to become a candidate for the House of Commons. I was not sure whether I agreed with this idea or not, and I asked a friend about it. "Doctors and engineers and lawyers and people have to write exams before we turn them loose to impose their will upon us," I said. My friend said "Yes, and so did the mandarins of old China have to write exams before becoming mandarins. And as mandarins they were a great success. But their thoughts were the thoughts of mandarins. And the exams were devised by mandarins."

MORE THOUGHT FOR FOOD

Thanks very much for the article, Loose Ends, in Tuesday's October 19 Times. After getting inspired by his trip to the great north country, to absorb some of its primal vitality, Bruce has certainly hit the nail on the head with article, "Starvation in B.C."

That is the basic cause of all the western cities building more and more hospitals, because the large part of the people do not know how to live. Nor do they know how to feed their bodies with foods that will keep them in perfect health for many, many years, and enjoy living to a good old age, active to the end of the journey.

The are 14 main minerals in the human blood, with small traces of a couple more. Where can the body get them? Only through the natural food that we should eat.

RELIGION IN SCHOOLS

You have carried many articles on the subject of education in Canada. Methods of instruction, the purpose of instruction have all been discussed, but not a word has been said about giving the students some religious instruction. Can this be because your writers and editors are afraid of touching on a really controversial question?

Sooner or later our school boards and provincial departments of education will be forced to the realization that education without religion is nothing. The best preparation for life these days is the building of a firm Christian faith and the schools should not ignore this preparation. At least one period a day should be given over to instruction in the principles of Christian beliefs.

We in the western provinces have only recently had a great spiritual awakening in having an exalted churchman in our midst.

THOMAS TREDAWAY.
1925 Brighton Avenue.

Editor's note-Reference to our files should convince Mr. Tredaway that the subject of religion in schools has not been ignored by The Times. When some good purpose can be served by its further discussion, it will not be neglected.

WAR ON POVERTY

There was an added meaning to the following bright message in your feature "Wire Briefs" fronted in your Oct. 14 issue, as follows: "LONDON (Reuters)-Italy has rejoined the International Wheat Agreement after dropping out last spring in protest against the import quotas set for her, reliable sources said today"; because it meshed neatly with a market story from Chicago, intimating that "wheat prices firm in yesterday's trading, spurred by bullish news on the global wheat situation."

At any rate, from this reader's ground-line viewpoint anything which separates the nations at the present difficult hour is to be deplored; and, conversely, all moves in the direction of friendship, co-operation and brotherhood merit the spotlight and the approval of the Canadian people.

I was impressed no end with the following few lines credited to President Eisenhower in the course of an address to the American Society of Newspaper Editors: "If real peace could be established, a new kind of war could be declared-total war not upon any human enemy, but upon the brute forces of poverty and hunger. The peace we seek, founded upon decent trust and co-operative effort amongst the nations, can be fortified-not by weapons of war, but by wheat and cotton, by milk and wool, by meat, by timber and by rice. These are words which translate into every language of the globe."

TOURIST.

BREEZE OF DISTRESS

For quite some time past there has been a somewhat subtle motion on the breeze of politics to appease the eternal queries as to why Canada does not have a national flag or a declared national anthem. The motion appears to be clothed in a promise that at least the populace will be-when the time is ripe-given a brand new constitution. The making of a new constitution must of course be discussed by the legislative body in the House, and meet with the joint approval of the law in the name of justice.

Two things have happened recently that do not inspire confidence as to what could happen to the individual under a new constitution should they be thrown to the mercy or judgment of a coterie of the law, rather than the justice that is evidently arrived at through the "pro and con" of the "common law."

One instance stands out very vividly now under the glaring light of discrimination, that is that a party is not allowed to defend his case in the Supreme Court of Canada because he would not turn informer in a previous trial in the Province of British Columbia; in no way does anything to date prove his own statements, of which he is accused, to have been lies or slander. Obviously the whole affair has touched something, or someone, on the quick.

The other instance which gives one loss of confidence is in the appalling way a provincial chief justice could openly state, in a foreign country, that he was of the opinion that a jury was unnecessary, a judge alone could dispatch the cases more quickly; shades of Hitler. Are we moving toward the political and legal-or more rightly illegal-conditions that split the varied civilizations of Europe asunder and scattered the little people to the four winds, or "patched" them to the concentration camps?

CONTRADICTION OF DR. CHISHOLM

I read with amazement the report in your paper of recent date of the address given by Dr. Brock Chisholm to the annual assembly of Victoria College.

I refer to Dr. Chisholm's remarks re the extinction of the human race, and that we must be prepared to sacrifice some of our loyalties and sovereignty. He also stated according to your report that a strong international police force could guarantee the peace of the world.

Nothing is further from the truth. The human race does not face extinction. Does Dr. Chisholm not grasp the very essentials of the Christian faith? Evidently not or he would know that no power on earth can destroy the human race no matter how strong in every deadly weapon known to man that power might be. God in Christ settled that matter nearly 2,000 years ago. Christ still lives. God is still overruling and working His purpose out.

As to sacrificing our loyalties and sovereignty, to whom? To an international force consisting of Communists and other atheists, infidels, misguided individuals of our own peoples and so on? No, sir, the Christian peoples of the world will never surrender to the forces of evil. Our first loyalty is to God and his Christ our Saviour; and in His strength we will remain faithful to Him.

Our next loyalty is to our earthly ruler, our beloved, Queen Elizabeth, a gracious Christian lady who has pledged her loyalty to her God and under Him to work for the happiness and welfare of her people.

Twin principles of dependence upon God and devotion to duty. It is for us to remain true to these principles.

As for the statement that an international police force could guarantee the peace of the world, it does not take superintelligence to see the futility of that idea. The forces of good and of evil are poles apart, each working in opposite directions.

We are not looking for a slave state governed by an international police force, Mr. Editor, we are looking for the establishment of the Kingdom of God for which our Lord taught us to pray when God's will be done on earth as in Heaven. The enemy will then have come to an end in the triumph of good.

Two Outlooks in Italy

BY WALTER LIPP MANN, From Paris

SHORTLY before leaving Rome I had two talks which interested me very much. One was with an official who is working on the plan for the economic development of Italy. Essentially it is a plan which calls for capital development designed to create productive jobs for the unemployed and the underemployed. The official argued his case with much force and eloquence. But being an American, I was bound to wonder when he would get around to explaining the American contribution to the plan in the way of credits or grants in aid. He never did get around to that, and finally I asked him whether Italy would be able to execute the plan out of her own resources.

Lippmann to explaining the American contribution to the plan in the way of credits or grants in aid. He never did get around to that, and finally I asked him whether Italy would be able to execute the plan out of her own resources.

UNDERLYING REALITIES

His answer threw much light, I think, on the underlying realities. "If this were a Communist government," he said, "it could carry out the plan without foreign assistance. It would be able to tax. It would be able to compel workers to accept temporarily less pay. It would dare to cut down consumption in all classes. It would form capital by forced savings. It would remove the displaced workers of obsolete industries to other regions. It would impose measures of agricultural improvement. It would be able to do all these things because it would not have to worry about the Chamber of Deputies and about elections and about newspapers and about being put out of office."

"But," he went on to say, "the Democratic parties cannot do this even if they wanted to because they are not strong enough as governments to impose so much sacrifice upon the population. So in Italy which is a free country by a fairly narrow margin, democracy requires subsidies from abroad. It needs them to make up the difference between what can be done by Democratic consent and what needs to be done in order to solve economic and social problems."

I had a talk with another man who was much concerned about the revival of Fascism. I asked him to spell out his fears in view of the fact that the neo-Fascists are only a splinter party while the Communists are the most powerful party organization in Italy.

"We have decided," he said, "not to surrender the state to the Communists, not to allow them to take power even if circumstances were to give them the legal votes."

DANGEROUS GAME

"We shall use the whole force of the state to prevent their taking power legally. That in the last resort will be our answer to Communist propaganda. But of course the answer will require actions which will in fact put in charge of our affairs soldiers, policemen, and men who are temperamentally akin to the Fascists. So we shall avert the Communist danger but the price may be the loss of our democracy and our liberties."

In reporting these remarks, which reflect one of the crucial issues of the present phase of the cold war, I might say that the danger of Fascism is almost certain to be greater or less as the government of the day is weak and ineffective or is strong and purposeful.

In principle it is clear, it seems to me, that democracies cannot permit to totalitarian parties to enjoy civil rights and to win elections and then, having taken over power, to abolish elections and civil rights. If the Italian Democratic parties have really decided not to surrender the state, they have in principle taken the right decision.

FASCIST REACTION

But the danger of a Fascist reaction lies in the chance that the Democratic parties may be too weak and confused to carry out the measures of resistance, that these measures would be carried out furtively, so to speak shamefacedly.

With weak Democratic government there is a great danger that the Democrats would simply be pushed aside, would abdicate their responsibilities, and would leave the dirty work to be done by a minority. If that is so, the great question arises as to whether the basic decision should not now be brought into the open, and publicly declared and its principle openly discussed and vindicated.

The question of principle is whether a free and Democratic state has the right to allow institutions to be used by totalitarian parties to destroy freedom and democracy.

A Country Halloween

IN THE GENTLE DISTRICT that lies between the mountain and the lake, everyone is hoping for a fine and frosty Halloween.

Because, there, Halloween is for young and old. It's not just for one night, either. It begins two whole weeks before.

There's the bonfire for a start. And all the wood to get.

This year, some of it will be from the old chickenhouse, the sagging one that was torn down in the spring. Two-by-fours and one-by-twelves and all kinds of bits and pieces.

And someone's bound to get splinters in his hands, and someone else will surely tread upon a nail. The first big box, that used to be a toffee tin with flowery picture on the lid, will be rushed into action. And there'll be excited stories about who did what, and no, she didn't cry, but you shoulda seen the blood!

The boys will want to drive the tractor and snake in logs that would make a fire to equal the fires of Hades.

There'll be axes and hatchets to lop the branches from the fir that fell in last winter's gale.

And all the week-end will be spent in gathering wood. But the grumbling will be mostly taken grumbling, because, as all country children know, half the fun of Halloween is getting ready for it.

Mothers will be cooking madly—fudge and cookies and candied apples. Various women will be going into huddles with scrawly little lists.

It'll be, "Well, if you get the weiners, then I want to give the buns." and "No, you do the fudge because you do it best, and I'll stick to the chocolate cookies the kids all seem to love."

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Operation for Palsy

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

A while ago I called attention to the fact that Dr. Irving S. Cooper, of the department of neurological surgery, New York University, Bellevue Centre, had discovered accidentally that the tying of a small artery at the base of the brain will in some cases make a miraculous improvement in the condition of a person suffering from severe Parkinson's disease.

Now, Dr. Cooper writes me that the operation is still working well in many cases, but usually the person who can be helped is under 40 and with the type of Parkinson's disease that followed an attack of encephalitis, or so-called sleeping sickness. Patients over 60 years of age, with much hardening of the arteries in the brain, and perhaps the results of some little strokes are not suitable subjects, and hence he is no longer operating on such persons. He says that several other neurologists have now tried the operation, and have confirmed the fact that it will work.

In one case a man of 33 who had lain in bed, helpless, for 12 years following an encephalitis, had muscles so stiff that he could not move either his hands or his legs. He had some "pill-rolling tremor" of both hands; his face had no expression and his speech was barely audible. He could not do anything for himself. Now, five months following an operation by Dr. Pool, he is up and about; he can walk for miles; he has no tremor, and his facial expression is normal again.

Some of the patients keep showing more and more improvement for months after the operation. So far no patient who has had a good result has shown any tendency to slip back into his old illness.

I must here emphasize the fact that this operation is not being done for old people who have had little strokes and mental deterioration. Before asking for the operation or traveling far with the hope of getting it, patients should consult their local physician, who, if he wishes, can consult with a local neurologist. I hope patients, by the score, do not write 10-page letters to me describing their symptoms because from a distance I cannot decide what they should do.

ULTRASONIC TREATMENT

A while ago Dr. A. W. Bauer of England summed up what the British physicians feel about the present status of treatment with ultrasonic waves. Their views were obtained by a questionnaire. These waves are something like those of sound, only very much faster.

The doctors concluded that the diseases on which ultrasonics exert a favorable action are mainly those in which the factor of nerve injury is of importance.

The best results were obtained in cases of "jumping" of pains through the muscles, of old contusions due to some slow, certain inflammations of the skin, certain cases of sciatica, and some cases of inflammation about the joints or in the joints or around tendons. Some persons with Raynaud's disease, a tennis elbow, and Buerger's disease of the legs were helped.

In large cities and in big hospitals and in medical schools, the department of physiotherapy is likely to have a machine for treatment with ultrasonics.

BROWN SPOTS ON THE SKIN

Many women want to know what can be done for the brown spots which appeared on the skin of their hands or face as they grew old. I am sure I don't know, and I doubt if anyone else does. They are something like the grey hair that comes as we approach 50, and they are probably about as curable.

Some women say, "But some of my friends don't have them." True; but the friend may have a different color of hair, or a different type of skin, or a different type of pigmentation.

NEW HELP FOR MYASTHENIA GRAVIS

All sufferers from myasthenia gravis will be wanting to try the new drug called pyridostigmine. According to recent reports, it often works better than does the old neostigmine. Only in some cases is it less effective than is neostigmine. The new drug is said to be free from disagreeable side-effects on the digestive tract. The dose of the new drug is four times greater than that of the old one.

HOW COMMON HEADACHES MUST BE

Some idea of the number of headaches suffered by persons in the United States can be obtained from the fact that in 1953 the production of aspirin in that country was 13,713,000 pounds.

I doubt if savages who do not have to worry about making out their income tax reports, or who all day do not have to keep to a 15-minute schedule of appointments have many headaches.

Hunters Found Safe At Campbell River

Canadian Legion Forms Huge Search Party To Locate Missing Member; Lost Overnight

CAMPBELL RIVER—Two hunters reported missing on the week-end, and the objects of huge searches by local men, turned up safely Sunday.

They were Delbert Ross of Campbell River, who became lost Saturday night and was found Sunday morning, and Robert White, Victoria, who arrived at Camp Five unassisted after having been missing most of Sunday.

Ross had left here Saturday at 6 a.m. on a lone hunting trip, and when he had not returned by late afternoon a search was organized.

CAR RECOGNIZED

George Watson, immediate past president of Campbell River Fish and Game Association, reported having seen Ross' car, unoccupied, on a road in the vicinity of Camp Five.

Canadian Legion here, of which Ross is a member, organized a party of 117 under president Jack Wheeler, and led by Game Garden Rex Hayes and Alvin Parkin, well-known trapper, guide and sportsman.

The party searched without success Saturday night, but started at first light Sunday and met Ross walking out near Camp Five.

The missing man said he had pursued and killed a deer Saturday, then realized he was lost. He had built a fire and a lean-to shelter and butchered the deer, but found the meat unpalatable. After a meal and a rest he returned for his deer, and was home before noon.

INTERCEPTED PARTY

The second man was reported missing by an unidentified companion, also of Victoria, who told MacMillan, & Bloedel officials at Camp Five he had not seen his friend since 11 a.m. Sunday.

A second party was organized immediately by Hayes and Parkin, but before searchers could take to the woods they were intercepted and told that White had arrived safely at Camp Five.

Harry Parker, resident manager at the camp, called RCMP immediately White turned up in order to have the search canceled.

Heating facilities for the new building are adequate and provide for future expansion. Since the old part of the school is constructed from old army huts, expansion likely will be necessary at a later date.

CHARGES UNDER MILK BOARD RULES HELD GROUNDS

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Milk Shippers Agency of Vancouver, charged with not paying the minimum scale to its producers last February, has been acquitted by Magistrate Gordon W. Scott.

He ruled Friday that there were no grounds for the charge in the act under which it is laid. The company is a milk distributing agency.

It was charged that the agency failed to pay the required amount to its producers—250 farmers. It was laid under a section of the Public Utilities Act and orders of the Milk Board.

Magistrate Scott said that there are several other acts, such as the Minimum Wage Act, which "do cover the ground."

Heavy Rains Avert Danger Of Power Loss

John Hart Plant Reservoirs Full

CAMPBELL RIVER—

Heavy rainfall of the past week has filled reservoirs of the John Hart Power Development, and averted the danger of a "brown-out" on Vancouver Island for the next two months.

For the time being there is no need to tap Butte Lake storage, although General Construction Co. on orders of the B.C. Power Commission, will deepen the channel out of Butte Lake to increase water flow if required.

The head pond reservoir has reached capacity and the river is full, restoring Elk Falls to its full flow.

A siren sounds to warn anglers that the gates are being opened and the level of the river raised.

CHEMAINUS HOST TO NAVY LEAGUE ISLAND DIVISION

CHEMAINUS—Delegates from Victoria, Nanaimo, Alberni, and members of the local executive, attended a meeting here of the Island Division, Navy League of Canada, when Capt. F. Hart, RCN (R), presided.

Captain Hart announced that a good movie of the summer camp at Comox Spit had been made and would soon be available to the Island and Mainland branches for public display.

Divisional financial statement was accepted and the divisional by-laws ratified with the exception of article III, covering proportional representation. An amendment read: "Representation of the other branches of the equal of."

Terms of reference and commissioning of cadet officers as outlined by Captain Hart were fully endorsed, with minor changes to be left to the decision of the Island representatives at the national council meeting in Toronto later this month.

Annual meeting of the Island division will be held in Chemainus Nov. 20.

Full-Time Director Sought For Recreation Commission

NANAIMO—Recreation commission here, headed by Dr. W. R. MacMillan, is looking for a full-time recreation director at a top salary of $400 per month.

A special meeting has been called for Friday when job qualifications and requirements will be discussed. Meanwhile, the city has earmarked $500 toward the pay of selected directors until the end of the year.

A survey of public and private recreational facilities here is nearing completion, according to Dr. MacMillan. Present facilities are being used to the limit and a gymnasium at the junior high school is not expected to be available until the 1955-56 season.

Dr. MacMillan was critical of clubs and individuals that "don't bother to write us about their recreational problems." He said the recreational commission "is slowly gathering momentum. But we will have to educate the public if we are to do anything in this commission."

Avocation chairman Harry Freeman expressed his admiration of facilities available to the public at the senior high school.

"I think the school board is to be congratulated on the splendid equipment in the industrial arts department available at the night schools, but it is amazing how little the public makes use of it," he said.

The Mystery Men who do you favours

There are millions of them all over the country.

You pass them every day in the street without realizing who they are and how much they help you. In fact, even they don't usually know that they're doing anything important for all their fellow-citizens.

Yet, together, they pour more than 200 million dollars every year into a wide variety of projects that promote progress from coast to coast. They may help build an oil pipeline that stretches for hundreds of miles. Or a group of new homes in some city suburb. Or any number of useful public works, such as roads, bridges, schools, sewage disposal plants.

Are all these people rich? Far from it! They are people in all walks of life, who are life insurance policyholders! And the money they lend for these purposes comes from their life insurance premiums. This money, invested for them by their life insurance companies, helps finance many of these important projects that benefit one and all.

Indirectly, these policyholders also promote better health. For life insurance companies contribute funds to medical research work aimed at eliminating many dread diseases.

And they're helpful citizens in still another way. Because they own life insurance, their families will never be completely dependent on others.

So if you are a life insurance policyholder, remember—in all these ways you're helping to make Canada a better land to live in!

P.S. FROM YOUR LIFE INSURANCE MAN

"All these investments earn interest that make it possible for you and your family to enjoy the benefits of life insurance at such low cost. If you have any questions about how to make life insurance fit your own special needs, give me a call. I'll be glad to help you!"

Cats Claw Bower

Stamps, Flyers Win; Quakers Here Next

Victoria 5, Vancouver 2
Edmonton 5, Saskatoon 3
Calgary 7, New Westminster 4

What happened in Western League hockey Saturday night served to emphasize more than one pertinent point.

First, it appears that Victoria Cougars and Vancouver Canucks intend to let neither get a jump on the other in their long seasonal series.

The Cougars Saturday night whipped the Canucks, 5-2, for their second victory in four games with their mainland rivals. Vancouver won the other two on Vancouver ice.

Secondly, Calgary Stampede, who tripped up New Westminster Royals, 7-4, must be considered as the club to catch for the marbles they hold from last year.

Thirdly, Edmonton Flyers' 5-3 triumph over Saskatoon Quakers means that coach Doug Bentley and his Quakers are in mighty tough in the Prairie circuit and may need Toronto's Max Bentley, like Carter needs his pills, to stay above water.

Locally, the Cougars, while still checking sidereads for the whereabouts of left-winger Don Ashbee, have no reason to feel sorry they shamed the Canucks so Saturday night at Memorial Arena. Rather, the reverse is true. Ashbee is the player recently acquired from Cleveland Barons of the AHL, and his arrival has been expected daily since Thursday of last week.

THREE QUICK THRUSTS

Cougars struck fast against the Canucks and made Vancouver goalkeeper Johnny Bower look very ordinary indeed.

Doug Macaulay slipped in the first tally at 1:47, the puck trickling through Bower's pads from the side. Less than two minutes later, Ed Dorohov put Andy Heberton in the clear at centre ice with a blind pass and Heberton faked Bower out of the net before he put the puck in.

Macaulay got his second at 6:12 when he and Doug Anderson persisted in a fore-checking attack on Canuck captain Jack Lanning, finally stole the puck, and, with the help of Colin Kilburn, engineered a neat scoring play.

Harry Dick's long drive from the point accounted for the Canucks' first goal at 7:51 of the first period, but by then the Cougars were in command to stay.

TWO FOR HEBERTON

Ed Dorohov got the fourth Cougar goal early in the third. Fred Brown replied for the Canucks, with Heberton getting his second for Victoria on a rebound off Alex Kuzma's drive at 11:58 of the final frame. Bronco Horvath scored two goals in Edmonton's triumph, the Flyers enjoying a 5-1 lead at one stage of the contest.

League president Al Leader announced that Regina interests have posted a $7,500 bond and been granted a reserve list. Regina's application for a league franchise next season had previously been accepted.

Leader also revealed that Winnipeg interests, headed by Johnny Peterson, are interested in a franchise. No games are scheduled to night. Saskatoon Quakers open a Coast tour on Tuesday at New Westminster, meeting Victoria Cougars here Wednesday.

Which Drake Has the Pigskin?

It looks here as if Brant Haddad (25), burly Oak Bay Drake tackle, has taken to running with the ball but it isn't so. Actually, Haddad is pulling out of the line to block for a team-mate directly behind him who is carrying the ball. The camera mix-up occurred at Macdonald Park Saturday as Drakes whipped Mayo

First Place Grid Stake

By The Canadian Press

The 16-game Western Interprovincial Football Union schedule winds up tonight and while three clubs jockey for first place Calgary Stampeders probably will start planning for 1955.

The Stamps, considered a powerhouse in pre-season guessing, are finished for the year. Their last chance of catching a playoff berth faded Saturday night when Winnipeg Blue Bombers polished off British Columbia Lions 19-0 to clinch at least third, and final, playoff place. Edmonton Eskimos jumped into a first-place tie with Saskatchewan by defeating the Roughriders 24-19. Tonight it is Winnipeg at Edmonton and the Roughriders at Vancouver in the finale of the 16-game schedule. At stake is first place and a bye into the best-of-three final.

If Edmonton and Riders win tonight they will remain in a first-place tie but the club with the best points-for-and-against average receives the bye. Eskimos hold the edge with 234-151 in the for-and-against columns with Roughriders 224-195.

If both lost, the schedule would end in a three-way tie for first place and Edmonton probably would wait to meet the winner of the two-game total-points semi-finals.

It was such and go for the Eskimos at home before 18,236 fans Saturday. The lead changed hands four times before halfback Jackie Parker, who scored three touchdowns, set up another late in the game with Roughriders ahead 19-18.

FINAL SURGE
Parker tossed Edmonton's only two completed forwards of the game and sparked an 82-yard, last-quarter drive that brought play to the Roughriders one-yard line, from where quarter back Bernie Faloney barged over.

Tackle Bob Dean kicked the converts on four majors. Saskatchewan, quarter Frank Tripucka tossed two touchdowns passes to halfback Stan Williams and end Mac Speedie, and Joe Aguirre converted both majors.

A crowd of 17,176 saw Lions lose their 14th game of the season. Blue Bombers piled up their points in the first half. Gerry James romped 23 yards for the first major, Dick Enfield took a pass from Indian Jack Jacobs for the second and Lorne Benson went over for the final five-pointer.

Buck Rogers kicked the converts.

Argos Sensational In Victory Over Als

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The "hot potato" was a sweet subject in Toronto football circles today, but Montreal found it a bitter pill.

Quarterback Knobby Wirkowski clicked with a long, spectacular last-second touchdown pass off Toronto Argonauts' triple reverse "hot potato" play Saturday to sink Montreal Alouettes 30-24 for the Big Four Football Union's biggest upset of the season.

Wirkowski fired after some fancy ball-handling by two backfielders and end Al Pfeiffer, who got behind Phil Adrian of the Als, snared the 43-yard pass on the 15 and kept going to break a 24-24 deadlock. The convert by Norb Hecker ended the game.

Meanwhile, Hamilton Tiger-Cats took another step in the direction of a playoff spot with a 25-17 uphill victory over the desperate Ottawa Rough Riders before a crowd of 9,300 at Hamilton.

Ticats' victory, combined with Argos' upset over the Als, left Hamilton in second place, four points behind Montreal and four ahead of Toronto. Each team has three games left.

Dutchmen Keep Lead

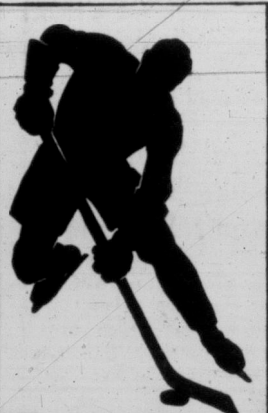

KITCHENER, Ont. (BUP)—The Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen kept a firm grip on the ORFU's top rung by fighting down a last-quarter rally by the Sarnia Imperials to salvage a 17-17 tie from the teams' final meeting before playoff time.

The Imperials, who have clinched second place with one game more to play, scored eight points in the final quarter after missing several field goal attempts that could have given them a win.

Kitchener scored three touchdowns on long passes from quarterback Bob Celeri, and Paul Amodio, a fellow import, converted two of them.

MUSTANGS WIN

LONDON, Ont. (BUP)—The University of Western Ontario Mustangs treated a homecoming crowd of 9,500 to a 27-1 triumph over the Queen's Golden Gaels Saturday that shot them into first place in the college loop and maintained a 17-year record of hometown victories.

NEW YORK (AP)—Southern California and Ohio State, a pair of upstarts in the Pacific Coast and Big Ten conferences, are headed for a date in Pasadena Jan. 1, 1955.

The Trojans and Buckeyes are unbeaten in their leagues and at this stage of the season, that's enough to start the Rose Bowl drums.

Southern Cal starts the last lap Saturday against Oregon State, mauled by UCLA, the nation's No. 3 team, 61-0.

U.S. Cagers Trim Canadians

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The United States defeated Canada 59-37 as the world basketball tournament began here Saturday night.

Canada, represented by the Winnipeg Canadians, trailed throughout the game against Peoria Caterpillars. The Canadians had been rated one of the main threats to the favored U.S. in the 12-nation event. But the decisive victory clearly stamped the Illinois team as the one to beat.

Sunday, the U.S. team defeated Peru.

Kirby Minter of the U.S. was high scorer with 16 points. He was followed by Card Ridd, six-foot-four veteran of Olympic play and one of Canada's best players with 11 points.

Herb Olafsson, a 20-year-old centre who stands six-five, scored seven points for Winnipeg while guard Ralph Watts got six, George Oelkers four, Roy Burkett three, Doug Gresham and Mike Spack, two each, and Andy Spack and Ken Callis got one each.

Caterpillars took the lead from the start and held it throughout. They led 31-18 at the half after the Canadians had come within six points of the Americans. Three minutes before the final whistle, the Americans were ahead 58-27, but they let up and the Canadians scored 16 straight points.

In the first game of the program, the Philippines defeated Paraguay 64-52.

Sets Record

HAMILTON (CP)—Henry Kennedy of Toronto broke the six-mile Canadian senior cross-country record Saturday with a time of 28 minutes, 50 seconds. Kennedy shaved 28 seconds off the old mark of 29:28, set by Valdu Lillikas of Montreal in 1951.

and second-ranked Wisconsin.

Once-beaten Michigan made it a two-team race in the Big Ten with 34-0 rout of Minnesota, previously unbeaten and No. 8 in the nation. The Wolverines take on Indiana Saturday on the way to what may be a winner-take-all showdown with Ohio State, Nov. 20.

The Cotton Bowl also apparently will have an unexpected entry New Year's Day in Arkansas. The Razorbacks, No. 7 nationally, added to their unbeaten record with a clear-cut 6-0 success over fifth-ranked Mississippi.

Ohio State moved out of its darkhorse role last week-end by beating previously undefeated

Loyalist Early Choice For '55 Queen's Plate

TORONTO (BUP)—Loyalist, a stretch-running two-year-old claimed by Bill Moffatt for $3,000, appears certain today to rule as the "winter book" favorite for next year's Queen's Plate.

Fresh from an upset victory in the rich Cup-and-Saucer Handicap, Loyalist flew through the stretch at Dufferin Park Saturday to win the $5,000 Diamond Ring, last of the fall classics for juveniles.

WANDERERS BEATEN

Pynn's Big Boot Earns Bays Tie

The uncanny right toe of Gary Pynn earned James Bay Athletic Association its first points of the Miller Cup rugby season Saturday at Windsor Park.

Pynn, who a week previously had kicked nine points, booted two penalty kicks Saturday to account for all the local scoring as Bays drew with a powerful Vancouver, ex-Britannia team, 6-6.

In Vancouver, Saturday, Oak Bay Wanderers dropped a 32-0 decision to South Burnaby.

At Windsor Park, Pynn made his first penalty kick early in the first half to give JBAA a 3-0 lead. Ex-Brits tied it up when Ray Cocking also converted a penalty kick.

Ten minutes after the start of the second half, a Pynn kick gave JBAA a 6-3 lead but Ex-Brits came back with Russ Henschel drilling a penalty kick between the posts to gain a split in points and preventing JBAA from gaining Victoria's first victory of the season in the inter-city league.

OUTPLAYED
At Vancouver it was 11-0 for South Burnaby in the first half and the winners scored almost at will in the second half.

Nick Nickerson, with three tries, led the offensive, and Joe Lidster added two. Rick Smith, Harry Winters and Bill Morrison added tries with Norm Balke converting twice, and Winters and Gordon Hemingway each converting once.

Loyal Subjects Make Sure Queen Won't Be Cold

LONDON (UP)—A brand new stove—but no central heating—has been installed in the studio of an Italian artist so Queen Elizabeth II can keep warm when she poses for her portrait.

The National coal utilization council, a semi-official body, gave Pietro Annigoni the stove when it heard his heating system exploded two weeks ago while he was painting the Duchess of Devonshire.

Queen Elizabeth has scheduled 15 sittings at the studio where she must climb four flights of stairs. But she chose to have Annigoni paint her rather than at Buckingham Palace.

The artist's apartment was burglarized this week and $840 stolen.

N.S. Jurist Makes Ruling In Obscene Literature Case

SYDNEY, N.S. (BUP)—Provincial Magistrate John F. Macdonald ruled today that you can't judge a book by its cover, however lurid that may be.

Macdonald dismissed a charge against Angelo Giovanetti of Dominion, N.S., that he "knowingly" sold obscene books and magazines in his store. It was the first such case in Nova Scotia and was launched as a test case by the town of Dominion.

Gus MacGillivray, assistant crown prosecutor, said another charge would be laid against the storekeeper in the same case. He would not disclose details.

Macdonald ruled that the crown had not proved that the Giovanetti knew the contents of the books and magazines he sold, and which were submitted in evidence. They included "Love-Hungry Doctor," "Wayward Nurse" and "Sins of a Private Secretary."

"The only argument advanced on this point by counsel for the crown was that, as several of the books had lurid illustrations on the front cover, this was sufficient notice to the accused that the contents of the books were obscene," he said.

"I do not feel that it is sufficient," Macdonald said, "as the contents of the books do not necessarily bear any relation to the illustrations on the cover; the seller must be shown to have knowledge of the subject matter contained between covers."

He added that the charge was dismissed without it being necessary to rule whether or not the books were obscene.

Quakers Here Support Gulley

Vilified Worker Among 'Sons' Backed by Meeting of Friends

Victoria's Quaker community will ask the Canadian Friends Service Committee to allow Emmett Gulley to continue his work among the Sons of Freedom.

Gulley, who has been the frequent target of attacks by the Reformed Doukhobors Sons of Freedom in recent months, gave a detailed accounting of his work at the Friends' Meeting House here Sunday.

His decision to support the government in its present policy, Mr. Gulley said, was made after the Sons turned down every alternative, including the establishment of their own schools, or the acceptance of a modified curriculum.

While he felt that education was the only answer to the complex problem, Mr. Gulley warned that the Sons had many fine qualities of character and suggested that the arbitrary judgment of "one law" for all Canadians was not a sound basis for decision on the Sons of Freedom question.

He cited three instances in which the Sons had been the subject of discrimination by the enactment of laws directed specifically against the sect.

1. In the amendment of the Criminal Code in 1931 to provide a penalty of three years for nudism. Mr. Gulley said that the amendment was directed specifically at the Doukhobors and that no other Canadian had ever received that maximum sentence.

2. In the disenfranchisement of the Doukhobors by the B.C. legislature in 1919. The speaker said that while the act was aimed at conscientious objectors, in practice it applied only to the Sons.

3. In the disallowment of the Doukhobor marriage ceremony. Many other marriage ceremonies, just as odd by Canadian standards, were legalized years ago in Canada.

"When we speak self-righteously of one law for all," Mr. Gulley concluded, "we should know whereof we speak."

CHICAGO (AP)—A noise expert has predicted that automobile engines will be so quiet that motorists will have to check oil pressure gauge to tell whether they are running. The day of virtually noiseless engines was described Friday at a National Noise Abatement symposium by David C. Premier Quoted St. Paul's Words To Archbishop VANCOUVER (CP)—Premier Bennett borrowed a quotation from the Bible Saturday to define the meaning of Social Credit to a convention audience.

He said that, among others, the Archbishop of Canterbury, on his recent visit, had asked the meaning. Mr. Bennett said he replied paraphrasing the words of St. Paul:

"Unto the Jews, it is a stumbling block; unto the Greeks, it is foolishness, but we know unto millions of people throughout the world, it is life eternal."

Humblest Christian Called to Service

Dr. James Urges Average Churchgoer To Take Lesson From Gideon Challenge

For hundreds of years practically every community in the civilized world has had an active group of Christians at its core, and at least one full-time, paid organizer. What would Communism have achieved with such a weapon in its hands?

That was a question posed by Dr. F. E. H. James, president of the Victoria Ministerial Association, when he spoke to a banquet of 300 Gideons and friends in Metropolitan Church Hall Saturday evening.

Dr. James chose the Biblical figure, Gideon, as his subject, drawing a comparison with the average Christian in the humility and surprise of Gideon when he was chosen by God for a special task.

Dr. James drew attention to Gideon's lack of special qualifications, and to the fact that he was directed to the chore closest at hand, that of overthrowing the altar to Baal which stood in his father's orchard.

"Here is a lesson for all Christians," the speaker declared, "and one which members of the Gideons have taken to heart."

God has always chosen what appeared to be unlikely material for His purposes, and Christ, in calling His disciples from their humble pursuits, gave further testimony to the place of the common man in God's kingdom.

M. F. Hunter, head of the Victoria Camp of Gideons, was chairman of the banquet.

Sunday 30 churches in the city heard Gideon speakers from all parts of the northwest speak on the work of the group on distributing copies of the scriptures.

Cats' Protection League Endorses Junior Branch

Formation of a junior branch of the Cats' Protection League was endorsed at the league's annual meeting held recently in the Spratt-Shaw building.

The meeting elected Mrs. I. D. Woods as president; Mrs. W. Wilds, first vice-president; Mrs. O. Dugdale, second vice-president; Mrs. T. W. Kerswell, secretary, and H. E. Bristow, treasurer.

Mrs. Kerswell reported that the league's lost and found service returned a large number of lost cats to their owners during the year. Over 175 stray and unwanted cats were placed in new homes, she said.

The educational committee reported 5,000 sets of educational literature dealing with cat care and "stray" cat problems were distributed to the public.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

News of a rather depressing nature for automobile reactionaries who like to wear tall silk hats while driving is contained in the current issue of TIME magazine.

Time reports on the efforts of a certain large motorcar manufacturer to restore some measure of sanity and interior space to its products:

"Corporation surveys (two years ago) showed that customers wanted shorter, easier-to-manoeuvre cars with less chrome and plenty of interior height so nobody mashed his hat.

"The result: sales plummeted nearly 50 per cent as the car buyer turned to the longest, slinkiest cars he could find. Last week, the company's president showed newsmen a 1955 line that is a long and low as anything on the road... as much as two inches lower, at least one inch wider, up to 10½ inches longer."

As I mentioned above, I find this depressing news. Apparently there is to be no slackening of the tendency to squash a car down and drag it out.

I must admit my interest in a new car big enough to drive while wearing a tall silk hat is somewhat academic. I do not own a silk hat, and my chances of acquiring a new model car are roughly the same as the chances of Vancouver Lions entering the Grey Cup final this year.

Nevertheless, this is a free country, and I am entitled to raise my voice in protest against the hideously chromed monstrosities which cling, belly to the ground, along a half block of curb.

"Finding a parking place for these elongated giants is well-nigh impossible. Handling them in traffic requires the skill of a logging truck expert. Sitting in them gives a permanent round-shouldered effect."

Yet the one company which attempted to do something to restore the automobile to its former roominess and more practical length lost half its sales.

There seems to be little hope for a sensible motor car.

However, I detect a ray of sunshine. As cars get bigger, shinier, and longer, they will become completely impossible to handle on city streets—undriveable and unparkable.

The only thing left for them would be a strictly decorative role, standing in the owner's driveway, shining evidence that he was keeping up his payments.

When we arrive at this happy state, all traffic problems will be solved.

Anybody know where I can get a cheap second-hand tricycle?

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Wm. G. Woods, 101 Burnside East, pleaded not guilty in city police court today to a charge of careless driving, but was convicted and fined $35 with license suspension.

Charge arose from an accident at about 8 a.m. October 12 when the car Woods was driving was in collision with one driven by Gerald R. Cove, 552 Paradise, at Yates and Wharf intersection. About $1,000 total damage was sustained.

Two men were fined $250 each on charges of impaired driving over the week-end, one in Saanich court, the other in city police court.

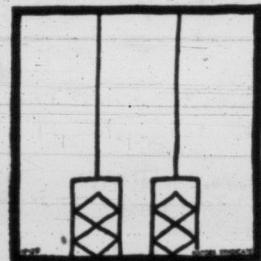

John Wm. Weir, 1120 Blanshard, was checked by Saanich police early this morning "weaving" his car along Douglas for about a quarter of a mile, police said. He was stopped and arrested.

A Victoria Chamber of Commerce committee will investigate possibility of getting a city charter for Victoria similar to that of Vancouver.

Vice-president of the civic affairs group Ernest Peden told Chamber directors the matter was under study.

Donald Evans, Victoria, was fined when he pleaded guilty to impaired driving on Hillside Saturday night. City police arrested him about 11.20 after his car collided with another while attempting to pass on the right.

SON MAY LOSE EYE

Fireworks 'Dynamite' Says Angry Mother

A Victoria mother today bitterly condemned the sale of fireworks to youngsters following an accident Sunday night in which one of her sons was burned by a firecracker and may lose an eye.

Mrs. Dorothy Bird, 1534 Amphion, whose 11-year-old son, Donald, is in Royal Jubilee Hospital, told the Times: "The doctor isn't positive yet, but he fears injury to the back of the eye."

"I'm against sale of all fireworks to youths to be set off indiscriminately," said Mrs. Bird. She classed this type of sale as "dynamite placed in the hands of youths who do not realize its potential dangers."

The mother, who is an elevator operator in the Yarrow Building, said Donald and his older brother, Gwene, bought some fire-crackers in Oak Bay and one let off by the older boy bounced up from the pavement and exploded in Donald's eye.

Arnold Ward, Toronto, YMCA secretary of the national council of young adults, will address the young adult club here at the YMCA Tuesday, at 8 p.m.

The public is invited to attend a color movie on the southwestern U.S., including the Grand Canyon, to be shown Thursday at 8 p.m. in the mural room of the YMCA.

Featured also will be a half-hour organ recital, taped from the giant organ in the Mormon Tabernacle in Salt Lake City.

New extension of the Strathcona Room cocktail bar, which doubles the size of the present lounge, opened at noon today.

The perimeter of the lounge is furnished with chesterfield lounges whereas the other section has tables and chairs only.

The YMCA Young Adult Club will hold a Halloween dance and masquerade in the Mural Room of the YMCA building at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Two cases of breaking and entering and theft, involving $146 in cash and property, were reported by city police Sunday night, bringing week-end thefts to a total $321.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Turner, York Hotel, told police $80 cash had been taken from a cedar chest in their apartment some time Sunday evening while they were out visiting. An additional $5 cash was taken from the office of the hotel, and a seven-inch navy-type knife from Mrs. Turner's dressing table.

The man who would have been Poland's chief of naval staff if his country hadn't fallen in the Second World War arrived in Victoria this morning aboard HMCS Magnificent.

EAGER BEAVERS PUSHING HALLOWEEN

Over-enthusiastic children pushing Halloween a week ahead were asked today to wait until Saturday.

Mrs. W. W. McGill, who has distributed "Save the Children" collection-cans to Sunday schools for a charity collection on Halloween said today that some cans had already been given out to children who had started their collection.

"They have misunderstood the purpose," said Mrs. McGill, "which was to substitute 'giving' for 'getting' on Halloween."

It is hoped that the Saturday collection will add nearly $1,500 to the fund, which goes entirely for work among the world's undernourished children.

Man Facing Life in Jail Loses Bid for Freedom

Appeal of Thomas Nelson of Nanaimo, 38, against a conviction of being an habitual criminal was dismissed today by the B.C. Court of Appeal. He will have to serve an "indefinite sentence" in penitentiary.

Nelson, who pleaded guilty to the charge, asked the court to quash the conviction on the grounds that when he admitted his guilt before Judge L. A. Hanna in Nanaimo in September he was suffering from a mental strain.

He said previous to his arraignment in court he spent the night in a cell with a fellow prisoner who was suffering from "delirium tremors." The man shouted and screamed and he could not get to sleep, he said.

Nelson added that when he appeared in court the next morning he was so tired he did not realize what he was doing when he pleaded guilty to the charge.

But crown counsel J. F. Cunliffe pointed out that when the accused appeared before the judge, Nelson did not complain of being over-tired or being under a mental strain.

He said Nelson pleaded guilty at the time to four charges. These were: two charges of breaking and entering; possessing a rifle with a barrel under 25 inches, and being an habitual criminal.

Civil Servants Withhold Reply To Socred Blast

Timed to Block Resolutions

B.C. civil servants today held their anger in check but promised a full-blown hearing at their convention this week of charges levelled against them by the B.C. Social Credit League.

The league, in a resolution approved unanimously at the annual convention in Vancouver, condemned civil servants for being "wilfully inefficient in the discharge of their duties, apparently with a view to discrediting the government for political advantage."

Some civil servants said today the resolution seemed purposely timed to take the sting out of resolutions scheduled to appear before the B.C. Government Employees' Association convention in Nanaimo Friday and Saturday.

Hiram Carney, secretary of the Victoria branch, said he was "surprised not one cabinet minister, or the premier, rose to take issue with the resolution. 'They were all there,' he said. 'They should have taken issue with it. Silence gives consent, they say.'"

Gordon Moore, president of the Victoria branch, said there was no doubt the entire issue would be up for discussion at the civil servants' convention. BCGEA general secretary E. P. O'Conner said the resolution branded "every civil servant as being inefficient." He said that if there were no facts laid on the table to back up the resolution it was a "political move."

Mr. O'Conner said the government has the machinery at its disposal, through the Civil Service Commission, to terminate the service of any employee it feels is being inefficient.

"The resolution, in view of this, becomes criticism of the government's own action, or lack of it," he said.

The civil servants head said another Socred resolution freeing government workers to join political parties followed the constitution of the BCGEA, which allows membership, but forbids active participation in politics.

"This is designed to prohibit creation of a situation which would turn public service into a political football," he said. "If it was not this way, there would be a complete change of civil servants every time a government changed office."

Youngster Injured When Clothes Burn

Three-year-old Russell Mitchell, 4882 Townsend, was reported in "satisfactory" condition in Jubilee Hospital this morning after being treated for burns to the left leg suffered early Sunday evening.

His mother, Mrs. R. C. Mitchell, said he had been playing with about four other children near a rubbish fire set by herself. She said they had been throwing leaves into the flames and evidently Russell's overalls ignited from a burning leaf.

ahead of the invading armies, he joined the Royal Navy and served as first lieutenant in HMS Grom, a destroyer which was sunk at Narvik. Then the Royal Navy loaned the destroyer Garland to the Polish Navy, and the captain was named her commanding officer.

Later he became commander of the second division of Polish destroyers—a job which kept him ashore too much to his liking.

It took him two years to wangle a new command. "It was worth waiting for," he said. "Officially, she was called ORP (the Polish navy's equivalent of HMS) Elysawica, which means lightning in our language. But all the other navies called her Bottle of Whisky, which was okay with me."

Capt. Namiesniowsky chose to come to Canada after the war because "everywhere, dur-

FISHBOAT DEATH RULED AS ACCIDENT BY JURY

Agner M. Nelson, 39, of Surrey, B.C., died accidentally due to a fractured neck suffered in a fall on board the fishing boat Gregory II, Vancouver, as it travelled Thursday night between Jordan River and Port Renfrew, a coroner's jury decided this morning.

The accident happened about 11 p.m. Thursday, the inquest was told, and the night had been dark. Evidently Nelson slipped, fell and struck his head on the vessel's decking, fracturing his neck.

Next of kin is his wife, Beverley, of Surrey. Hayward's Funeral Home here will ship the body to New Westminster tonight for services on the mainland.

Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart conducted the inquiry with RCMP assistance.

Trustee, Clubwoman Ponder Council Race

Mrs. Lily Wilson, Austin Curtis, Admit Interest in Forthcoming Civic Election

Mrs. Lily Wilson and Austin Curtis likely will be contenders for aldermanic posts in the December civic elections, it was learned today, as interest in the vote starts to mount.

Mrs. Wilson, wife of W. H. Wilson, former principal of Sir James Douglas School, is a prominent clubwoman and the daughter of veteran alderman, Mrs. Margaret Christie, who has announced her intention to withdraw from public life at the end of this year.

Mr. Curtis is general agent in Victoria for Canadian National Railways and has had 14 years' experience as a school trustee.

Both Mrs. Wilson and Mr. Curtis have so far declined to make any definite announcement of their candidature, but have acknowledged that they are contemplating the step.

Charles W. Hunt, one of five candidates in last year's mayoralty contest, could be another in the aldermanic line-up before election time.

Mr. Hunt, who is an auto parts salesman and long-time president of the Musicians' Union here, admitted having discussed the matter of trying for a council seat but said he had come to no decision.

Only person who has announced definitely that she will run is Miss M. Jane Hall, business woman, who made her decision known October 9.

Mrs. Wilson, a former president of the Canadian Women's Club, said that if she ran for office it would not be with the idea of taking up where her mother, Mrs. Christie, leaves off.

"We're quite different people," she said.

Mr. Curtis, presumably, would concentrate on election to council and not try for school board. Aldermen required to run if they wish to keep the seats they presently occupy are Frank Mulliner, Robert Macmillan and Arthur Dowell.

The fund was opened last Tuesday. Donations may be sent direct to the city treasurer or turned in at the office of the city clerk or city assessor.

No contribution so far has exceeded $100, although several donations of this amount have been received. The Women's Guild of St. Mary's Church made one $100 donation.

ing the war, I worked with the Canadian Navy. I like Canadians, I admire Canada, so I wanted to come here—ditchdigger or not."

On the Magnificent's cruise, he has served as Staff Information Officer, possibly the only four-ringer in history to hold this post. On return to Halifax, he will attend a course at the Maritime Warfare school. He is now with the Defense Research Board, Ottawa.

Burglar Scorns Sentence

Richard Albert Brooks, Hoy Lake Road, today was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary on a charge of breaking and entering and theft of $1,197 from Colwood Inn on Labor Day.

Brooks was convicted by Judge J. B. Clearhue in County Court following a three-day trial.

The 27-year-old man, who admitted having a criminal record dating back to 1942, smiled when sentence was passed upon him. "Two years in prison is just a sleep," he commented in the court room.

But his young, fair-haired wife did not think so. She broke down and sobbed.

MONEY NEVER FOUND

Evidence showed that Brooks broke into the office of the Inn through a dormer window on the roof. The stolen money was never recovered by police, who conducted a systematic search.

Judge Clearhue said he found the evidence of finger prints which were discovered on the window sill. The prints were identified by RCMP Constable Robert Morley as belonging to Brooks, the judge said.

The judge also said that paint found on the trousers of the accused the day after the theft was similar to paint on the roof of the inn.

Atha-B Back In Service Here After Refit

Recommissioning ceremonies were held today at the ordnance jetty, HMC Dockyard, for HMCS Athabaskan, veteran destroyer which returns to service as a practically new ship after extensive refit and rearmament.

The "Atha-B" is now once again a unit of the Pacific Command's operational fleet. She is under the command of Lieut. Cmdr. C. E. Richardson of Galt, Ont.

Present at recommissioning ceremonies was Rear-Admiral J. C. Hibbard, Flag Officer, Pacific Coast.

Work on the Athabaskan was carried out under direction of Commodore B. R. Spencer, dockyard superintendent.

New Canadians, Old Canadians Here on 'Maggie'

The RCN's floating airbase, HMCS Magnificent, carries its own helicopter, as well as two squadrons of conventional-type aircraft. The "whirly-bird" (left) took off as soon as the ship was made fast and the honor guard dismissed, to allow Times photographer Bill Halkett to take an air shot of the ship. "New Canadian" aboard ship is Capt. Conrad Namiesniowsky (above), ex-Polish navy officer, now with the RCN (R). Family reunions were rare aboard ship, which is manned mainly by east coast personnel, but CPO Lionel

James (above, right) was greeted at dockside by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stan James, 2402 Fernwood, and his brother, Graham, a dockyard civilian employee.

Another reunion—entirely unexpected on the part of the Magnificent crewman—occurred at sea when a harbor craft put a customs inspector aboard, near Race Rocks. The customs man was David Featherby, formerly of HMCS Sioux; the RCN man, his brother, PO James Featherby. It was the first time they had met since the end of the Second World War.

New, Gleaming Nail Polish To Match Your Best Jewelry

By PENNY SAVER

Here's something new! Nail polish should reflect your taste in jewels (says a manufacturer of nail polish). I won't commit myself. But I will tell you how, then you can decide for yourself if this is so. If you choose onyx jewelry, there's a lustrous black nail polish now manufactured to match it exactly. Naturally, the name of the polish is 'Onyx.'

If the jewels you select are emeralds, then you wear a sparkling nail polish to match. You must admit it's an interesting idea, whether or not you personally follow it through! Other 'jewel' polishes available are 'Ruby,' 'Pearl' and 'Sapphire.' Price per bottle of polish is 89 cents.

From what second-hand advice we Victorians got from Marie-Moreau's charm and fashion classes in Vancouver last week, we learned that no matter how simple and inexpensive the outfit, it's a must to wear a pair of plain, expensive gloves. You just try it some time and you'll find that such a pair of gloves will transform an ordinary outfit into something ultra-smart.

I did. I own a plain black wool dress. It's cut smartly, but really there's nothing exciting about it... just a basic dress, that's all.

So I took the tip from Marie-Moreau and bought a pair of soft-silk French kid gloves... the best I could find. In a bright peacock blue color. What a transformation! With those gloves, and a little inexpensive hat of matching peacock blue, my dress is now the smartest in my wardrobe.

French kid is so very soft that I hesitated at first spending $6.95. But the salesgirl assured me that French kid gloves can be washed and washed and will outlast other

TODAY'S RECIPE

DOUBLE DATE ECLAIRS

One cup water, 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 1/2 cup sifted enriched flour, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/2 cup oats (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked), 3 eggs.

Heat water and butter to boiling in a large saucepan. Quickly stir in flour, sugar and rolled oats. Beat vigorously over medium heat for 1 1/2 to 2 minutes or until mixture leaves sides of pan and forms a ball. Remove from heat. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition; beat for about one minute after last egg has been well combined.

Drop by tablespoons onto greased cookie sheet, leaving two inches between each; shape into ovals about 2x4 inches. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes until firm and brown. Cool. To serve, cut off tops; fill with ice cream and replace tops. Makes 16 midget eclairs.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Overweight Is Dangerous! Do Something About It

While physicians, researchers, statisticians and life insurance companies have agreed that overweight is a health hazard, little has been done to discover why this is true.

Newsweek magazine recently reported that Dr. D. D. Feller of the University of Washington School of Medicine, in Seattle, has been working on this. He has found that the heart pumps blood about 10 times as fast through the vital organs as it does through muscles and fatty tissues. The more fat we have the greater is the decrease in the movement of blood throughout the body. He feels that this may be one reason why clots in the blood vessels constitute one of the first causes of death among overweight folks.

Whatever the reason, overweight is dangerous!

A man on a diet is sort of pitiful. For some reason he has not formed the habit of yellow and green vegetables and salad greens. The fact that his little woman has, may be because she has been more interested in figure control and calorie counting than he has been during past years.

Also, he has been reared in the tradition of eating "he-man" food: meat and gravy and French fries and pie a la mode. Proteins, including meat, have an important place on the reducing diet, but gravy and fried food and pastry do not. Not only may a man become obese on such a diet but he may be vitamin and mineral poor.

Here are tomorrow's menus for my Tubby Hubby Diet:

BREAKFAST — One cup of orange juice; bran and raisin cereal (with skimmed milk and two teaspoons of sugar); one piece of toast, buttered lightly; two crisp strips of bacon; coffee.

LUNCH — Eight oysters or shrimp, raw dipped lightly in sauce; one bowl vegetable soup; two hard rolls, buttered lightly; one glass of buttermilk; coffee if desired.

DINNER — One generous helping of lean meat or baked fish; one baked potato—light on butter; 12 asparagus stalks; green salad with lemon juice or vinegar; medium helping of cheese; one glass of milk (skimmed or buttermilk).

If you missed some of these menus or would like to have my complete 12-day Tubby Hubby Diet Booklet which gives you a loss of from seven to 12 pounds in 12 days' time, send 10¢ and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Find, Then Forget Runaway Wife

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

Trouble often results when a husband and wife have conflicting work schedules. Nothing, however, can excuse the actions of a woman who leaves her husband and child and seemingly forgets about them completely.

A man writes:

(Q) "I have been married for 12 years and have a daughter, nine years old. My wife and I lived very happily together until last year, when she went to work. She worked during the day and I worked at night so we practically never saw each other. Then my wife got friendly with a young man who lives on our block. She went out with him until I finally put a stop to it. Then she hated me and our daughter, and I told her to leave. She has been gone now for two weeks and I don't know where she is. She didn't take any money or clothes. Should I inform the police or just wait for her to return? The little girl cries for her mother and is so unhappy."

(A) The chances are about 99 out of 100 that your wife is with the man she was going out with. Call his home and see if she is there.

I think it would be unwise to notify the police at this time. It might cause a lot of unfavorable publicity and this would be hard on you and your daughter. It could lead to a real scandal and you should make every effort to avoid that. Once you locate her, you should have a show-down about your future. If she is with this other man, she is doing something that is morally and legally wrong.

If she has decided that she wants to leave you, you have no alternative but to sue for a divorce. You cannot have a wife who runs off to another man as she has done. No matter how much you and your daughter may love her, if she really "hates" both of you, as she says, you have no alternative but to give her her freedom.

Make some arrangement for the care of your daughter while you are at work. A nine-year-old girl is much too young to be left at home alone. Have you a relative who could live with you or could you arrange to have an older woman, perhaps a widow, sleep in your home while you are at work? Make some such arrangements until your domestic situation is straightened out.

A cake made with a mix is delicious and easy, but mix cakes have one characteristic—they dry out quickly. Store them in a metal box or plastic bag with half an apple on the plate to preserve their freshness.

Scarves, too, play an important part in giving you that well-turned outlook. If you are a scarf enthusiast (and now that Christmas gift-time is approaching) it's nice to know about Minnie Beveridge's superb selection.

There is an unlimited variety in French satin, block prints, Paisley cashmere, crepes, pure silk, small nylon scarves and Perma-Pleated styles. Shapes vary from tiny squares to large ones and smart oblongs, with designs and colors to suit every taste.

U. Conyers. The full-length satin skirt of the gown was panelled with lace and the bodice of lace featured a dainty, pointed collar. A fingertip veil of embroidered, scalloped net was held in place by a heart-shaped pearl-studded tiara and red roses, white carnations and heather formed the bride's bouquet.

Lace, Satin, Bride's Choice For Wedding in First United

Exquisite French lace over satin created a wedding gown for lovely Ruby Joe, who exchanged wedding vows recently, with Bing Foon Wong in First United Church. The full skirt of her gown was scalloped, each scallop caught in place by a cluster of pearls, and the scalloped, lace collar was Queen Anne style. A coronet of mother of pearl sequins, dew-drop and pearl beads held a fingertip veil of illusion net and she carried a spray bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis.

Tall baskets of richly-hued chrysanthemums were placed in the church for the ceremony which united in marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Joe, 2223 Vancouver Street, and the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Toy Wong, Alert Bay, B.C. Rev. Frank Johnson officiated.

Miss Patsy Lee of Vancouver was bridesmaid for her cousin, wearing a ballerina-length gown of white lace over coral taffeta with matching flowers in her hair. Her spray bouquet was of African lilies in varied colors to blend with her gown.

Flower girl was Miss Ellen Lam. She wore a short frock of white eyelet embroidery over coral taffeta, the scalloped skirt caught up with coral flowers, and carried a basket of small chrysanthemums and carnations.

Mr. Richard Joe, brother of the bride, was best man, and ushers were Mr. Ronald Joe.

Mr. Peter Wong, Mr. Ming Eng and Mr. Robert Lee.

A reception for 200 guests was held at the CAC Garden, where Mr. Wah Quan proposed the toast to the bride.

Pink carnations and deep pink candles formed a setting for the four-tier wedding cake, which was topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Leaving on honeymoon to Honolulu, the bride wore a blue worsted suit with short white topcoat, navy blue purse and shoes, and red hat and gloves. The newlyweds will make their home at Alert Bay.

Here for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lau, Seattle; Mr. and Mrs. Tong Wong, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wong, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lee, Mr. Tommy Wong, Mrs. K. G. Yip, Vancouver; and Mrs. Betsey Quan, New Westminster.

First City Evacuation Takes Just Half Hour

SEVENTH HIGHEST PEAK CLIMBED BY AUSTRIANS

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—A three-man Austrian expedition has conquered Mount Cho Oyu, the world's seventh highest peak.

Cho Oyu rises 26,867 feet in the snow-capped Himalayas of Nepal northwest of Mount Everest, the world's highest mountain which was climbed by a British team in 1953.

Geologist Dr. Herbert Tichy, construction engineer Josef Joechler and a geography professor, Dr. Helmut Heuberger, made up the Austrian expedition, which tackled Cho Oyu Sept. 20.

The accounts reaching this capital city Sunday said Tichy and Joechler, accompanied by a Sherpa guide named Pasang, reached the crest last Tuesday.

$1 MILLION 'LIGHT' SHOW TV SMASH HIT

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Television saluted Thomas Edison Sunday night with its first $1,000,000 show, and it looked like the money was well spent.

The two-hour show, shown on every network, celebrated the 75th anniversary of Edison's invention of the incandescent light.

It was a ponderous subject and it is a credit to the ingenuity of producer David O. Selznick that he was able to come up with so much entertainment on that theme.

The show spent most of its money on the cast. Fifteen stars ranging from Judith Anderson to Kim Novak took part in the combination filmed and live telecast.

President Eisenhower was on to give the show a smash finish.

There were no commercials as such, even though there were more than 300 sponsors from within the electrical industry.

Even the late Thomas Edison, in a resurrected film, was on the show. In making what was probably the greatest understatement of all time, Edison said, "I am proud to have played a part in the history of the electrical industry."

Member of Sons Acquitted On Explosives Charge

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—Nick Evdokimoff, member of the Sons of Freedom, was acquitted in Assizes Court here Saturday on two charges of being in possession of explosives.

The verdict at the end of a three-day trial ended a lengthy series of hearings of the case against Evdokimoff, first arrested June 28, 1953.

Evdokimoff was sentenced to a 14-year prison term when the case was first heard at the fall assizes in 1953, but the appeal court ordered that a new trial be held and at the spring assizes the jury failed to reach a verdict.

In his charge to the jury, Mr. Justice N. W. Whittaker said the crown was required to prove beyond reasonable doubt that the substance the accused was alleged to have in his possession was an explosive substance and that he intended to do serious damage to property.

Evdokimoff, charged with having a mixture of gasoline and oil in his possession when an attempt was made to fire the home of John Evdokimoff at Goose Creek, B.C., on June 28, 1953, contended throughout that he was at Krestova, B.C.

5,700 Residents Of Brockville CD 'Guinea Pigs'

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (BUP)—Civil defence authorities expressed complete satisfaction today with Canada's first mass evacuation test, which saw 5,700 of this town's 13,800 residents moved out within 30 minutes.

Top-ranking authorities from Canada and the United States were on hand when enemy bombers theoretically struck at the centre of the business thoroughfare and defense plans sprang into action.

Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, Canada's civil defense coordinator, said the exercise would serve as a guide to similar evacuation tests in other cities.

NOT LIKELY TARGET

Brockville isn't a likely target for any air raid, but Worthington pointed out its trained workers likely would be the first on the scene if Ottawa were ever devastated.

"Besides, we don't want to tackle the big cities until we get the bugs out of evacuation schemes in medium population centres," he said.

Cities the size of Montreal, Toronto or Vancouver wouldn't really pose much greater problems, he added, because many of them evacuate a large part of their populations every day in transporting them to work in suburbs.

THEATRE 'EXPLOSION'

Worthington set off the warning siren here, and firemen and police raced to the scene of an "explosion" on the Regent Theatre. "Victims" were pulled from imaginary wreckage, given blood plasma by Red Cross nurses and immediately rushed to medical centres.

Among the first to be evacuated were key civil-defense workers who needed a fairly safe spot to meet and organize.

Among the spectators was Dr. David Solomon, a sociologist with the defense research medical laboratory in Toronto, who will prepare a report on crowd behavior during the mock emergency.

'Quiet' Youth Shoots Mother; Stabs Self

No Explanation Of Oshawa Tragedy

OSHAWA, Ont. (PUB)—A "quiet" 17-year-old youth charged with the shotgun murder of his mother was under constant police guard today after a suicide attempt.

Police said Allan Butcher stabbed himself in the stomach with a hunting knife after shooting his mother with a .12-gauge shotgun he had been given for Christmas, then breaking it over his father's head.

The youth was recovering, but was not expected to appear in court for at least two weeks.

Police made no statement on what led to the tragedy. Inspector Ted Ferguson said the parents were in the kitchen when Mrs. Butcher called the son to supper.

"He replied, 'I'll be there in a minute,'" Ferguson said. "At this time the boy entered the kitchen with a shotgun and shot his mother. Then he hit the father over the head with the butt of the gun," breaking it in two.

Mrs. Edith Butcher, 51, died five minutes after she was rushed to the hospital. Her 33-year-old husband, Percy, was reported in satisfactory condition in the same hospital.

Canada Still Prepared To Build Seaway Alone

St. Laurent Reiterates Policy in Montreal Address; Backs U.S. Aid on Power Project

MONTREAL (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent indicated Saturday night Canada is not ready to build an all-Canadian seaway at this time, but may do so in the future.

Except for a short canal to be built on the United States side of the International Rapids section, the St. Lawrence seaway will follow an all-Canadian route. The American section, near Barnhart Island, will be built by the United States.

Mr. St. Laurent, in a speech at a banquet marking the 10th anniversary of the French-Speaking Newspaper Men's Syndicate of Montreal, reviewed the history of Canada-U.S. negotiations in recent years concerning the seaway.

He said he took the opportunity to restate the facts because some newspapers inaccurately reported them, although not deliberately so, and conclusions based on those facts were false.

His remarks were contained in a speech prepared in advance of delivery.

INTERNATIONAL PROJECT

Mr. St. Laurent said construction of the seaway was dependent on construction of a dam across the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence River. This hydro-electric power development, since it touched both Canadian and American soil, had to be an international undertaking.

Until the power project was approved in both Canada and the United States the navigation phase of the project could not be started.

Too, American legislation specified that U.S. participation in the seaway must be on U.S. territory.

Mr. St. Laurent said that if Canada had turned down Amer-

Aircraft Carrier Open to Public on Three Days During Visit Here

Pilot's-eye view of the big aircraft carrier HMCS Magnificent, largest ship in Canada's navy, was provided this morning from ship's own helicopter as "Maggie" berthed at HMC Dockyard, Esquimalt Harbor. Victorians will get a more intimate view when the ship is opened for public inspection on three days during her stay here.

From 2 to 5 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 30; Sunday, Oct. 31; and Sunday, Nov. 7. No passes will be needed to enter dockyard, but cameras will not be permitted. Magnificent will be in harbor here until Wednesday, Nov. 1, when she will go to Vancouver, returning here Nov. 6. On Nov. 9, she will sail for home port in Halifax.

'Magnificent' Navy's Pride, On First Visit

OWN BULLET KILLS ARMED ATTACKER

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—Police reported a 28-year-old man was killed Sunday by a bullet he had fired into the back of another man.

Officers said it happened this way:

Charles Curry, the victim, and Warren E. Jones, 25, got into an argument at a club. Jones was handed a toy pistol and Curry grabbed a .38-calibre automatic pistol from the pocket of another man.

Curry, standing in front of Jones with his arms around him, shot Jones in the back during a scuffle. The bullet went through Jones' body and struck Curry, who was pronounced dead at St. Mary's Hospital. Jones was in serious condition with a gunshot wound in his chest.

Biggest RCN Ship Welcomed

By MONTE ROBERTS

A single ship, with "eyes" and striking power equivalent to more than 20 destroyers, steamed into Esquimalt Harbor this morning.

She is the Royal Canadian Navy's largest ship, the 18,000-ton, 694-foot aircraft carrier HMCS Magnificent, on her first visit to Victoria.

In the opinion of high navy officials, each aircraft aboard a carrier is of roughly the same value as a destroyer in protecting convoys of merchant shipping.

Magnificent carries two air squadrons: VS 881, consisting of 16 Canadian-adapted Avenger type anti-submarine aircraft, and VS 871, 10 Sea Fury fighter aircraft.

OBSELETE?

As Magnificent berthed at HMC Dockyard, her commanding officer, Commodore Herbert S. Rayner, DSC and Bar, CD, was asked: Is this carrier close to obsolescence, and are carriers in general to become obsolete because of long-range land-based aircraft?

His reply was brief. "To both questions," he said, "the answer is negative."

Certainly there is nothing obsolescent to meet the eye when you board the highly-complex, tautly-run fighting machine known to her smooth-working crew as "Maggie."

Actually, the nickname, affectionate though it is, does not do justice to the size, efficiency, and fighting power of the navy's senior ship.

MATCHSTICK

When you stand on Magnificent's flight deck, more than two city blocks long and over 100 feet wide, you find it hard to realize you are afloat, and not standing on an airport landing strip.

But non-flying personnel who have ridden as passengers behind the young pilots (average age under 25) have a different impression to record.

"Far below, you see a slim matchstick lying in the water," one of them said this morning. "Your pilot is going to take you down safely—you hope. As he makes his approach, the best thing to do is close your eyes and cross your fingers. It's a frightening experience."

The official job of Magnificent is to operate both anti-submarine and fighter aircraft for the protection of ocean convoys.

180,000 MILES

Although she has never been in battle—having been commissioned to the RCN, on loan from the Royal Navy, in 1948—Magnificent has made a peacetime record for efficiency and earned several "well-done" signals, top praise in navy language.

When she reaches Halifax at the end of the current cruise, she will have steamed close to 180,000 miles since commissioning, most of them in foreign waters.

Officers, in addition to Commodore Rayner, include: executive officer, Cmdr. John C. O'Brien, Ottawa and Halifax; commander (AIR), Cmdr. Victor J. Wilgore, Ottawa and Halifax; commanding officer, VS 881, Lieut. Cmdr. R. W. J. Cocks, formerly of Victoria; commanding officer, VS 871, Lieut. Cmdr. J. W. Logan, Stanley, N.S.

Magnificent carries a complement of 1,100 officers and men.

SUSPECTED OF MURDER

Wanted B.C. Man Found Dead in Bush

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—A grim manhunt for a man sought on suspicion of murder ended on a mountainside here during the week-end with the death of the wanted man as police closed in.

RCMP reported Sunday night that the body of the wanted man, Antoine Konze, was found Saturday above the 1,000-foot level of a nearby mountain. Police said a rifle was found beside the body and that Konze had apparently committed suicide.

FOUND AFTER FIRE

Sgt. B. E. Munkey, head of the Trail detachment, RCMP, said the hunt for Konze started Friday night after a warrant had been sworn out charging him with suspicion of murder in the death of Alex Toth, prominent Trail district farmer, whose charred body was found Tuesday in the ashes of his home.

Police said Toth was first believed to have died accidentally but that they became suspicious of foul play after Konze threatened Louis Toth, 19-year-old son of the dead man Friday night.

Police said the youth told them Konze pointed a rifle at him Friday night, threatening to kill him.

Police from the interior Kootenay detachments at Trail, Nelson and Fruitvale, joined in the search. The hunted man's trail was picked up on the mountainside Saturday.

Police said Konze fired on them as they closed in and a plane from Nelson was called to aid in spotting the wanted man's position. A short time later police found the man's body.

Frisky Voting At Montreal; 57 Arrested

MONTREAL (BUP)—A possible record vote was indicated today as Canada's biggest city went to the polls with a nation-alist-tinged civic reform group trying to wrest power from a solidly-entrenched administration that has ruled Montreal for 14 years.

The brisk turnout of voters was accompanied by heavy telegraphing throughout the city. By 3 p.m., police had arrested 57 persons on charges of trying to vote illegally. They were also on the look-out for a group of strong-arm men who raided a candidate's committee room.

Some 300,000 taxpayers were eligible to vote in this bilingual city of more than 1,000,000. In the past, fewer than a third of qualified voters have cast ballots.

JAPANESE WAR CRIMINALS HAVE SENTENCES CUT

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

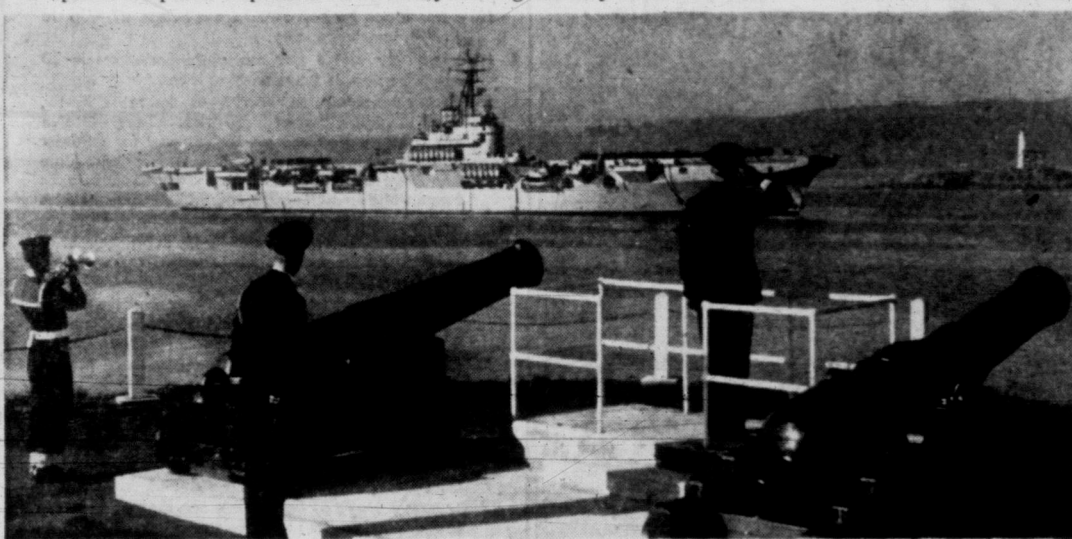

OTTAWA—Originally sentenced to death for their treatment of Canadian war prisoners, two Japanese war criminals have had their sentences further reduced, it was learned here today.

The Japanese war criminals are Col. Isao Tokunaga and Capt. Shunkichi Saito.

Col. Tokunaga was camp commander of the Hong Kong area. He was originally sentenced to death. The sentence was later reduced to life and it has now been cut to 20 years.

Capt. Saito was first sentenced to death. This was later commuted to life and has now been reduced to 15 years.

A war crimes court found the pair guilty of causing the deaths of Canadians taken at Hong Kong.

TRADITIONAL NAVAL CEREMONY was observed this morning when the 18,000-ton aircraft carrier HMCS Magnificent steamed past Dunstie head, entering Esquimalt harbor on her first visit to the West Coast. She is the first carrier to dock here since HMCS Warrior, her sister ship, was stationed on this coast during the winter of 1946-47. As the big ship passed on her way to her berth, she fired a 13-gun salute to the Pacific Coast flag, while Rear Admiral J. C. Hibbard, FOPC, (foreground) stood at salute. Ship's band and an honor guard of airmen were on the flight deck, while the rest of the ship's company were at entering harbor stations. (Times Photos by Halkett and Strickland).

Live Burial, Eye Gouging New Mau Mau Crimes

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—Ruthless Mau Mau terrorists are believed to have buried alive as a sacrifice a 72-year-old white farmer they kidnapped 12 days ago, authorities said today.

A Kenya government spokesman said Arundel Gray Leakey probably was not tortured before he was smothered in the gruesome ceremony on the upper slopes of Mount Kenya.

Leakey was taken prisoner by a group of terrorists after they broke into his farmhouse while he and his wife, Mary, 57, and daughter were at dinner. The Mau Mau strangled Mrs.

Leakey and hacked to death a negro house boy. The daughter managed to escape.

For days a 2,000-man force combed the woods around the Leakey home for signs of the terrorists.

Leakey had lived in Kenya for 50 years, and spoke the native dialect fluently. He never regarded the Mau Mau threat as serious and scorned carrying guns or having guards.

Meanwhile, Mau Mau leader "Field Marshal" Kaleba in a one-minute hearing was charged with carrying a .45 pistol and having 13 rounds of ammunition in his possession—both of which carry the death penalty.

He was captured in a cave Sunday after police had been tipped off to his whereabouts by an informer. He took over "command" of all terrorist forces in Mount Kenya after the capture of leader "General China" last January.

With the three other terrorists captured with Kaleba were found clothes thought to belong to Leakey as well as silver and paper from the Leakey home.

A naked African with both eyes gouged out by Mau Mau terrorists was found wandering Sunday on a European farm at Ruiri, seven miles northeast of here, police said today.

The man said he was a home guard from the Fort Hall district, and had been abducted from the African location of Nairobi.

A search plane spotted the wreckage of a two-engine aircraft on the rock-ribbed island of Elba, but rescue officials said they believed it was the remains of an old crash.

The missing plane was being flown by a crew of officers logging flying time when it disappeared. Peasants reported two explosions during the night in the French Alps north of Nice.

62 Held
Reformers'
Office Hit

By ED BANTEY

MONTREAL (BUP)—A gang of strong-arm men escaped after wrecking the headquarters of a civic reform group making a bid in today's election to wrest power from a solidly-entrenched administration that has ruled Montreal for 14 years.

Thugs invaded the main committee rooms of mayoralty candidate Jean Drapeau (on Laurier St. East), smashing typewriters, yanking out telephone lines and causing what police described as "a lot of damage."

Two of the vice-busting lawyer's election workers were injured in the scuffle.

USE BASEBALL BATS

Earlier, four men swinging baseball bats broke into the headquarters of council candidate Pierre Desmarais, Drapeau's No. 1 supporter, and inflicted similar damage. The same group was believed to have conducted both raids.

Police arrested scores of persons attempting to vote illegally. By 4 o'clock, a total of 62 had been taken into custody—and more are expected to be hauled in before polls close at 7 p.m. (Montreal time).

City Hall observers say it looks as if a record turnout will have been chalked up by the time ballots are counted. Montreal is usually lethargic about civic elections, but voters swarmed to the polls from the moment they opened.

They'll choose a new mayor from among nine candidates and 66 city councillor from among 180 candidates.

The Canadian Press reported that revolver shots were fired by a Montreal constable who attempted to stop a group of about 50 men from raiding the committee rooms of mayoralty candidate Adhemar Raynault.

The constable, Doris Filibotte, said he was stunned when someone wrenched a telephone from the wall and threw it at his head.

Live Burial, Eye Gouging
New Atrocities by Mau Mau

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)

—Ruthless Mau Mau terrorists are believed to have buried alive as a sacrifice a 72-year-old white farmer they kidnapped 12 days ago, authorities said today.

A Kenya government spokesman said Arundel Gray Leakey, probably was not tortured before he was smothered in the gruesome ceremony on the upper slopes of Mount Kenya.

Leakey was taken prisoner by a group of terrorists after he broke into his farmhouse while he and his wife, Mary, 57, and daughter were at dinner. The Mau Mau strangled Mrs. Leakey and hacked to death a negro house boy. The daughter managed to escape.

For days a 2,000-man force combed the woods around the Leakeys' home for signs of the terrorists.

Leakey had lived in Kenya for 50 years, and spoke the native dialect fluently. He never regarded the Mau Mau threat as serious and scorned carrying guns or having guards.

Meanwhile, Mau Mau leader "Field Marshal" Kileleshwa in a one-minute hearing was charged with carrying a .45 pistol and having 13 rounds of ammunition in his possession—both of which carry the death penalty.

He was captured in a cave Sunday after police had been tipped off to his whereabouts by an informer. He took over "command" of all terrorist forces in Mount Kenya after the capture of leader "General China" last January.

With the three other terrorists captured with Kileleshwa were found clothes thought to belong to Leakey as well as silver and paper from the Leakey home. A naked African with both eyes gouged out by Mau Mau terrorists was found wandering Sunday on a European farm at Ruiru, seven miles northeast of here, police said today.

The man said he was a home guard from the Fort Hall district, and had been abducted from the African location of Nairobi.
